STANDARDIZED AMERICA—NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—We who live in uniform, standardized America can scarcely realize how little uniform the rest of the world is.

For a recent illustration: When the first excitement broke out over the Ruhr invasion, reports reached Berlin that the French had excluded German newspaper correspondents from their conferences in Paris. So orders were issued to exclude French correspondents from the press galleries of the Reichstag. Soon a report came that French were nevertheless in the gallery. Officials investigated and found that the supposed offenders were Bavarian Germans, speaking German, which the German servants of the Reichstag, since they could not understand it, took for French.

That could happen in almost any country in Europe. A Hannoverian and a Tyrolean peasant could no more understand each other than a Greek and a Russian, though they both speak German. The same is true of the common speech of Brittany and Provence, or of Piedmont and Sicily. Great Russian and Little Russian are farther apart than Polish and Bohemian. Probably there is no dialect in English that a cockney doorkeeper in the House of Commons would not recognize as English—though he might not understand it—but Welsh and Gaelic are also languages of Britain. In Spain, besides all the dialects, Catalan and Spanish are different languages. The repatriated Greeks, from Greater Hellas, will find themselves often unable to make their Greek understood in Greece. In China, not only is the Chinese of one province unintelligible to the native of another, but sometimes it is nearly so across the street. India is the land of a myriad dialects.

Only in America can a native of one state make himself easily understood by a native of any other. Local pronunciations and shades of enunciation are just barely enough to distinguish a New Englander, a Southerner and an Easterner, and among cultivated people they often scarcely do that. In language, at least, we are, as no other nation, one people.

And we are standardized in more than language. Clothes are uniform; manners nearly so; newspapers shockingly so, and schools almost absurdly so. A "sixth grade child" means practically the same thing everywhere. A high school graduate, from almost anywhere, can enter almost any university. We read the same things, we learn the same things, we do the same things, we think the same things and we make the same things for granted without thinking. We are making over the most heterogeneous raw material on earth into its most standardized product.

TAX EXEMPT—It is all very well to talk about an amendment abolishing tax-exempt securities, but how are you to pass it by the votes of legislators whose local interests are all bound up in these securities? Will state legislatures ratify it when it means that their states must pay higher interest on their own bonds? Will farm constituencies favor it when it means higher interest paid by, and therefore charged by, the Federal Farm Loan banks? Will towns and counties and irrigation districts favor it when it means higher interest charges to them? Will radicals favor it when it means removing one of the chief apparent economies of public ownership?

Be sure, the local interests concerned would lose out about $100,000,000 a year, while the Federal government would save about three times that sum, all of which has to be made up out of taxes on all of us. But we are local minded. What local body will vote to add $1 to the tax for which it is responsible, to save $3 on a tax for which it can hold someone else responsible?

BY FRANCE IF FOR FRANCE—Government of the people evidently has to be by the people, or it will not be for the people. Any government must be "by" whoever it is "for." From which it follows that if Germany, or any part of it, is to be governed for France, it will have to be by France. Any free German government will govern Germany for Germany, and will pay reparations only as France paid them in 1872—because, and to the extent that the payment is beneficial to Germany also.

There is no way to force the will to pay, and the only way to force submission to payment is actually to seize the government and administer the coercion continuously and individually on all the people. That will not produce as much as more constructive methods and will cost a great deal more.

The memory of the war is not over, and its barbarities and injustices will continue to rankle during the life of at least this generation.

But the fact of war is over. One of the facts of peace is that nations govern themselves and their governments are responsible to their own people. This includes the German government. It may be a wrong fact, an undesirable fact, an unjust fact. But it is still a fact. Dealing with that fact, as a fact, payments can be had. Dealing with it in the spirit, and after the methods of war, when it was not a fact, may produce other facts, but they will be peace facts, not payment facts.

Assembly to Get Budget Next Week

DOCUMENT AROUSES SOLONS

Members of Assembly Expect Enormous Slashes in Expenses
704 MEASURES NOW UP TO LEGISLATORS

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—California legislators have completed the third week of their endeavors. According to present indication but one week more remains preceding the thirty-day recess.

During the session so far 704 bills have been introduced, including 476 in the assembly and 228 in the senate. At the end of the third week of the 1921 legislature 1246 measures had been presented.

There is an indication that a flood of bills will follow the receipt of the biennial budget the first of the week. Legislators are anxious to see the document two or three days in advance of the recess. That they will present appropriation measures covering many of the anticipated slashes in the state's expenses is not denied by lawmakers, many of whom have some pet commission or institution they do not want to see suffer under the economy axe.

Many Sectional Bills.

While perhaps a fourth of the bills so far presented are of statewide interest, the big majority of the measures are of sectional importance. County government acts, validating measures and amendments to existing statutes form a large portion of the present total.

Of the new bills which affect the entire state, those covering different reapportionment schemes are attracting perhaps the greatest attention. Extensive motor vehicle legislation, amendments to the election laws providing in part a return to the old convention system and bills eliminating numerous state agencies are all of interest.

With the busiest week thus far of the legislature at an end, assembliesmen and senators are today found in the capitol in small numbers only. The majority left Sacramento early yesterday for their homes or to spend the week-end far from the legislative corridors and offices.

Solons Quiz Banker.

The senate committee probing the campaign expenses of organizations which supported or opposed initiative measures on the fall ballot closed its week's activity late yesterday after quizzing proponents and opponents of the Sample law practice bill.

F. C. Colburn, San Francisco, secretary of the California Bankers' association, was the first witness called in the Sample bill hearing. His organization spent $59,000 in opposing the proposition, Colburn stated.

Attorney Fred Mellmann, Oakland, who managed the campaign conducted by the Alameda county bar association, also testified. His organization spent $5,154.10, Mellmann stated.

D. W. Davenport, Berkeley, secretary of the San Francisco district of the Bar association, said that organization spent $9,561.

Laud Bar Association.

The senate investigating committee agreed that the bar associations of the state, had as a whole, not only complied with the law in the matter of filing expense statements but in a number of instances had filed even more complete statements than the statute requires.

Activity of the Commonweal club of San Francisco in supporting the budget bill was also delved into by the committee. E. A. Walcott, secretary, testified that committee had advised him that his organization was exempt in the matter of filing an expense statement, hence its failure to do so.

The committee advised Secretary Walcott that he had been misinformed and he agreed to speedily furnish the affidavit which the law requires.

Physician Declares Condition Of Atty. Gen. Serious

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty, stricken with "a dangerous condition of high blood pressure with complications" was today ordered confined to his bed at his apartments in the Wardman Park Hotel here.

Daugherty is under the care of Brigadier General Sawyer, President Harding's physician. Sawyer has prescribed a "state of complete rest lest graver complications of apoplexy and possibly paralysis come."

The attorney general was said by Sawyer to be threatened with a condition similar to that which afflicted ex-President Wilson while fighting for the league of nations.

When asked whether the rest period was a matter of days, weeks or months, Sawyer replied: "Weeks."

ADDITIONS TO FIVE SCHOOLS BOARD'S PLAN

Spurgeon, Lowell, Franklin, McKinley and Washington Buildings To Be Enlarged.

Frank L. Andrews, secretary of the board of education, today conferred with Frederick H. Eley, architect, as to tentative plans for additions to the Spurgeon, Lowell, Franklin, McKinley and Washington grammar schools, which he said, will be held in abeyance until the bond issue of $150,000, recently sold, has been declared legal by the buyer's attorneys.

From two to four rooms, except to the Washington school, to which a kindergarten would be added, are proposed as additions to each of the schools named, Andrews said. Eley submitted construction estimates totaling $100,000.

SAYS CONGRESS BLOCKS DEBT SETTLEMENT

(By United Press Leased Wire)
SOUTHAMPTON, Jan. 27.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the exchequer, said upon his arrival here today from New York, that the greatest difference between England and America is the fact that in America the politicians are handling the final settlement of the debt question whereas politicians were not concerned with the debt's contraction. Baldwin headed the British debt mission in Washington.

He said he believed that Secretary Mellon could have arranged terms with Great Britain for the settlement of the debt but that the matter was immensely complicated by getting into the hands of congress.

"Americans are still country folk, politically," Baldwin continued, in explaining the difficulties he encountered in Washington.

"New York opinion cuts no ice whatever. The house and the senate are composed chiefly of men from farming and pastoral communities."

"The bulk of Americans have no knowledge of international trade. Whether the British debt is funded now or in the future, it can only be funded on terms which can be got through congress."

It is doubtful, according to British financial experts if congress can eat its own words and reduce the interest.

"It's a matter of opinion," he said, "whether it will be possible to fund the debt for many years. There is no hope that America will presently offer better terms."

CHARTER MEN FIX TAX OF $1.25

ENGINEER'S VISIT HELD PORT AID

Renewed Efforts Made by Boosters to Get U. S. Assistance

"If my preliminary report to the division engineer is finally accepted by the department at Washington and approved by congress it will be a great aid in assisting in the further development of Orange county harbor."

When it became known today that Major E. C. Ardery, United States engineer in charge of the Los Angeles district, yesterday made this statement at Newport Beach, supporters of the Orange county harbor project entered with renewed enthusiasm upon their campaign to procure government aid for the port.

Major Ardery's statement was made during a visit to the harbor by himself and Col. Herbert Deakney, of San Francisco, United States engineer in charge of the Pacific coast division of the army.

Col. Deakney's questions at a luncheon following a motor boat trip over the harbor indicated that he was more than favorably impressed with the development possibilities there, it was said.

His needed step.

As has been the case with other government engineers who have inspected the harbor, Col. Deakney pointed out that establishment of commercial activity and water traffic on the bay would assist materially in inducing assistance from the government.

Lew H. Wallace, secretary of the Orange county harbor commission, pointed out that Orange county, the city of Newport Beach and private interests had expended approximately $1,000,000 in development work.

Intimation by Wallace that the county probably would be willing to share equally with the government in future development brought the remark, "fair enough," from Col. Deakney.

Ross Hammond, secretary of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce, told the engineer that Riverside was deeply interested in the improvement of the bay. He declared that business men of his section felt that they would be materially benefited even if only coastwise shipping were developed, but pointed out the possibility of a tremendous volume of shipping by institution of lines for carrying citrus products to Atlantic ports.

Big Saving Cited

It was pointed out that if freight consigned to Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties were transferred at San Pedro to barges for delivery at the local harbor, a big saving in time and freight charges would be effected.

J. S. Smart of Santa Ana, wholesale grocer, presented data supporting statements that thousands of dollars in freight rates would be saved by communities to which shipping through Orange county harbor would be available.

Among others who met Col. Deakney and Major Ardery were John G. Mitchell, mayor of Santa Ana; D. Eymann Huff, president of the Orange County Harbor association; R. L. Bisby, secretary of the association, and L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange.

WELTS COVER BODY OF BOY MOB VICTIM

Legislative Committee Begins Probe of Vigilante Reign in Arkansas Strike.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 27.—Wounds of a boy victim of the mob which ruled northern Arkansas, lynching E. C. Gregor and flogging others, were exhibited today to the state legislative committee probing the vigilante reign.

"I was whipped by nine men, each striking me twice with a heavy lash after they had bound me to a post," Dewey Webb, 18 year old, declared as he exhibited his body, striped with huge welts.

Webb named three members of the mob and declared he was deported because he would not tell who committed alleged depredations on railroad property.

"After they had whipped me, they tore up my cap because it bore a union label," Webb testified.

REVEAL BIG VALUATION GAIN HERE

Library Rate Cut 1 Cent as Similar Levy Provided for Day Nursery

General tax—$1.00 on the $100 assessed valuation.

Special taxes—Library, 14 cents. Parks and playgrounds, 5 cents. Music and entertainment, 2 cents. Advertising and publicity, 2 cents. Social welfare work, 1 cent. Day nursery, 1 cent. Total, $1.25.

This will be the tax charges against property in the city of Santa Ana, if the charter tentatively approved by the board of freeholders is adopted by the city, it became known today, following a meeting of the board last night.

The general and special tax rates were developed from a report submitted by the committee on taxation, S. H. Finley, John Cubbon and F. D. Jayne.

The only change made in the recommendation of the committee was a deduction of 1 cent from the library tax and addition of 1 cent for a day nursery.

Valuation Increased

Finley, in submitting the report, disclosed that the assessed valuation was increased for this fiscal year by more than $2,500,000 and revealed further that it was the intention of County Assessor James Sleeper to raise the valuation another million dollars in the assessing campaign that will begin March 1. The assessed valuation for 1921-22 was $7,700,000 and for 1922-23, $12,280,000.

The present rate, including special levies, is $1.18. The board last night established a new maximum of $1.25 by increasing some of the special levies. Finley pointed out that if the $1.25 rate were in effect in the present tax-collection year, the tax revenue of the city would have been $143,530. It was the opinion of the committee that this should be sufficient, and that possible increases in valuations in the future would provide ample funds for operation of the city business.

Assessor Provision Told

It was pointed out that provision was made in the charter for creation of the office of city assessor at the option of the city council, and that in the event that future expenses of the city should demand more money than was available under the county-assessment plan and the tax limit established by the charter, the office of city assessor could be created.

Declarations that the Day Nursery is an institution that is filling a city need and should be given assistance by the whole community, resulted in the addition of the institution to the special tax list. Under the present valuation, the rate will produce $1228 annually.

It was conceded that the 5 cent rate for park and playgrounds fund would produce more money than was required to meet expenses of present operations, and it was suggested that money be permitted to accumulate for acquisition of grounds in the future. It also was pointed out that there was a possibility of more parks being acquired in the immediate future, in which event more money would be required for maintenance.

Reading is Completed

Reading of the old charter was completed last night, and final approval of the whole was deferred until Monday evening or possibly Friday evening. It was pointed out that individual members should again go over the document, section by section, to make sure that no errors had been made. It was thought that possibly other provisions might suggest themselves to the individuals.

J. P. Baumgartner was authorized to confer with Attorney Clyde Bishop and secure his co-operation in preparation of amendments to the old instruments that have been adopted by the board.

Attorney Horace Head discussed with the board his views with reference to the charter. He stated frankly that he was not in favor of a charter, but said that if Santa Ana must have a charter he thought that the present law concerning cities of the fifth class should be adopted, with changes that would make the city attorney and city marshal appointive in

WOMEN PRAISE DAY NURSERY TAX PLAN

With the state board of health condemning the premises now occupied by the Day Nursery and demanding that the establishment procure another location at the earliest possible date, women of the Ebbl here today were keenly interested in probable action of the Rotary club in developing plans for a campaign for funds to provide a new and permanent home for the institution.

At the same time, the women were jubilant over action of the board of freeholders last night in providing in the charter now being drafted a special tax rate of one cent to be devoted to assisting the Ebbl in defraying the expense of operating the nursery.

Members of the board were unanimous in their opinion that the nursery is one of the important charitable activities of the city, and declared that the city as a whole should contribute to its support through a tax.

Mrs. W. D. Baker, chairman of the day nursery committee of the Ebbl, said that it was imperative that some action be taken at once toward providing new quarters. She expressed the hope that a campaign to raise a fund for buying a site and building a home would not long be delayed.

She said that representatives of the state board of health, were here in August and December of last year. On each visit the cramped condition at the nursery was criticised and warning was given that the state board would not long tolerate the condition. She said, however, that the representatives were inclined to give time in which to develop plans for a new home.

The proposal of the charter board to give assistance through the proposed tax rate is one that every member of the Ebbl, and every person in the city interested in the work will appreciate," Mrs. Baker said. "Members of the club now are contributing $2 of their annual dues to support of the nursery and assistance from the city would make it possible to divert a part of this money to other purposes."

LAUNCH PRESIDENCY BOOM FOR JOHNSON

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—Politicians here were wondering today whether the 1924 model Hiram Johnson for president boom was launched here last night.

Raymond Robins of Chicago, chief speaker at a dinner given by the Roosevelt club, recently formed to perpetuate the policies and memory of the late Colonel Roosevelt, declared that Senator Johnson is the "one man whom the Republicans can win with" and the crowd arose and cheered wildly.

Recently the Roosevelt club movement has spread quietly over the state. Prominent in their membership are many of John Danziger, divorced wife of J. M. Danziger, wealthy oil man.

Pasadena Is Shaken By Earthquake Recorded In Chicago

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—An earthquake of sharp intensity was registered on the seismographs of the United States weather bureau here today.

The shocks started at 2:07 a. m. and lasted until 3:10, reaching maximum intensity at 2:11.

Weather bureau forecasters estimated the quake center as approximately 1,155 miles southwest of Chicago.

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 27.—A slight tremor was felt in the southeastern part of this city about 11:10 last night. No damage had been reported to the police.

SOLON DEFENDS FRANCE MARCH INTO RUHR

(By United Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A plea for entrance of the United States into the League of Nations to solve the present Franco-German difficulties was made in the senate today by Senator Owen, Oklahoma, Democrat, and brought a brief, but aggressive speech from Senator Reed, Pennsylvania, the only man in the senate who fought in France, who declared "much maulin sympathy" was being wasted on Germany in the senate and called for "an American policy of minding our own business" while France tries to collect reparations from Germany.

Reed declared that sympathizing with the Germans was like sending flowers to a murderer condemned for his crimes.

"We are forgetting our own dead," he declared, "when we sympathize with their murderers. I am expressing the views of those who fought, and I believe of those who died, when I say that the only true American policy in this situation is the policy of minding our own business. It is no concern of ours."

Reed said that when Germany was violating Belgium, ravaging France, sinking the Lusitania and committing other outrages the senate remembered that America was neutral and didn't express sympathy for the victims of Teutonic terrorists.

"Why in God's name can't we stay neutral today?" he asked, "when these murderers are getting their just due."

Reed's speech, his first of any moment in the senate, brought from many senators, warm congratulations. It brought from Senator Oddie, Nevada, the charge that the same German capitalists, who, as owners of insurance companies, welched on payment of insurance claims after the great San Francisco fire, are now trying to evade payment of reparations.

"Let us not forget San Francisco and what those Germans did then," said Oddie.

ISSUE BROKEN ROMANCE CASE WARRANT

A warrant, based on a complaint charging perjury, was today issued by Justice J. B. Cox, for the arrest of Delbert Wayne Hansen, 18, who was wedded to Miss Louise Purcell, 18, here last June.

The complaint, procured on the recommendation of Superior Judge Wood, Los Angeles, who granted the lad an annulment of his marriage, charged specifically that Hansen made a false affidavit as to his age. In obtaining the license to wed, he told Mrs. Grace Kittle, deputy county clerk, under oath, that he was 21 years old.

When Hansen brought his annulment suit before Judge Wood, and swore that he was only 17, whereas, he admitted, he had taken oath that he was of age, the court reprimanded him, and ordered the clerk to forward a transcript of the testimony to the district attorney here. The annulment was granted.

Deputy District Attorney C. N. Mozely lodged the complaint against the boy, who it was expected, would be arrested soon.

Trouble arose when the young couple returned to the home of the bride to live, it was said, and the annulment proceedings followed.

Lack of Coal Brings Tieup To Industry In Germany and France

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Reports of "pernicious activities" by French occupying forces in the Ruhr are contained in an official communication from the German government made public here today by the German embassy.

While the French officers get five pints of milk a day, German children over two years "get none at all," the reports stated. The French are freely making threats to the German workmen that "hunger will force you to work," it is declared in the official Berlin dispatches.

(By United Press Leased Wire)
BERLIN, Jan. 27.—A number of German women and children were wounded at Treves today when French troops used sabers in dispersing a demonstration, according to reports reaching Berlin.

MAYENCE, Jan. 27.—French soldiers and German civilians were wounded in street fighting at Treves during the night. Martial law was proclaimed and ten city officials were expelled in reprisal for the populace's attitude, which was one of defiance.

To rescue some French soldiers, in a street battle, Colonial troops on duty at Treves were forced to charge the crowds.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—All Bavaria was under martial law today. Revolt of German fascist under Hitler, the nationalist chieftain, was feared.

The Bavarian government ordered Hitler to withhold his "white demonstration" planned for today until the Ruhr situation was improved, but the rebel nationalist defied the authorities and announced the mass meeting would be held tonight or Sunday, "whether the government liked it or not."

Nationalists in Berlin are aroused; socialists are accusing the cabinet of shameful inactivity towards fascism. Police last night stopped many volunteers en route to Munich to join the reichswehr.

COAL STRIKE FORCE RHINE PLANTS TO CLOSE

ESSEN, Jan. 27.—Customs officers established between the Ruhr valley and the rest of Germany were put into operation today by the French army of occupation. Reports reaching Essen said the barrier was practically complete, Germans now being required to pay to the invaders taxes upon products of the Ruhr shipped to destinations other than French reparations collectors.

The situation in the entire occupied area was one of critical suspense. Martial law was in effect at Treves and a virtual state of siege was reported to exist at Dusseldorf and Cologne. Saturday brought another pay-day for Westphalian miners and more danger of a clash between French troops and workers.

The Germans today claimed that one of the biggest smelters in Lorraine has had to close down because of lack of coke from the Ruhr.

GUARD AGAINST RIOT IN ROYALIST FUNERAL

PARIS, Jan. 27.—Squads of police reserves were called out today to guard the funeral of Maurice Plateau, royalist leader and editor, who was killed January 22 by Mlle Germaine Berton, a young Communist.

Police, fearing a clash between royalists and Communists, surrounded the whole cortege as it filed through the city.

PRESENT NEW CHARTER TO SCOUTS AT BEACH

Members of Troop No. 1, Newport Beach Boy Scouts, today were recounting features of a fine meeting held at the grammar school there last night, when the troop celebrated its first anniversary and received renewal of its charter. D. Eyman Huff, president of the county council, presented the charter. A feature was demonstration by pantomime of each of the twelve scout laws, as well as of other Boy Scout activities. Scoutmaster A. J. Twist gave a brief talk. An original yell developed by troop members was given. Walker Choi, Korean boy scout of Orange, led yells, special drills and exercises. One hundred and twenty-five men and women of the beach city attended. A big birthday cake was cut and served.

UNITARIANS IN PLAN TO RESUME SERVICES

Prospects of early resumption of Unitarian church services here were seen today when the Rev. Paul M. McReynolds, until recently pastor of Unitarian congregations at Vancouver, B. C., announced that plans to that end would be discussed February 4 at a meeting to be held at the residence of J. D. Parsons, 106 East Chestnut avenue.

Financial considerations made discontinuance of services at the local church necessary some years ago, the Rev. Mr. McReynolds said. The edifice was rented to members of another faith.

It is expected that the coming meeting, at which the Rev. Mr. McReynolds will preach, will result in the formulation of plans to hold services regularly. For the time being at least, it was stated, meetings would be held in private homes.

P. E. TRAFFIC HALTED HOUR AS WIRE SNAPS

Snapping of a trolley wire near Emerald avenue on the Pacific Electric railway between Buaro and Garden Grove today tied up traffic for one hour, it was reported.

The car scheduled to arrive at Santa Ana from Los Angeles at 10:11 a. m. was caught at the scene of the accident, according to word at the Pacific Electric office here.

The following car, however, came through on time as the wire had been tied up by the crew of the delayed car, it was said.

No one was hurt or frightened by the accident, though the business of tying up the parted wire was hazardous, the car crew reported.

"GHOST" LOT MAN ABSENT.
J. K. Wood, convicted "ghost city" lot salesman, had not appeared before Superior Judge Z. B. West today for sentence. Investigation in Los Angeles had failed to disclose his whereabouts, but District Attorney A. P. Nelson stated that an investigator would be sent there to locate him, and bring him before the court here.

The course in industrial processes at the School of Commerce, New York University, will be presented entirely in motion pictures.

LAUD HUNGARIAN'S MUSICAL PROWESS

"In Erwin Nyiregyhazi," declares a well known Eastern critic, "we find one of those extremely rare persons—a true music maker. Never does he sit down at the piano without making music. He never plays mere notes."

This gifted young Hungarian pianist, scheduled to appear at the Temple theater here Wednesday, under the auspices of Santa Ana Post No. 131, American Legion, is said to possess a technical prowess unsurpassed by any living pianist. An extraordinary tribute to the talent of Nyiregyhazi was paid by Otto H. Kahn, New York's musical and artistic Maecenas.

Kahn engaged the young pianist to play for him at a reception given at his Fifth avenue home at which were present a number of guests prominent in all walks of life. Among the guests was the Prince of Monaco.

At the conclusion of Nyiregyhazi's selections, the prince invited him to be his guest at Monte Carlo, offering him the free use of Monte Carlo Opera House for a series of recitals. The prince declared that the young man had given him greater artistic pleasure than had been afforded him by any pianist for a generation.

RAPS INTEREST RATE IN RESERVE MEASURE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—A move to strike out the provision in the federal reserve act permitting progressive interest rates was made in the senate today in an amendment proposed by Senator Heflin, Alabama, Democrat. "What is wrong with Santa Ana?" asked Head. "Are we going wrong? Is there need for a change? These are matters we should investigate by comparing conditions here with those in other cities of similar size. I realize that it takes money to make street improvements, sewer expansions, and to meet other requirements of a city growing as rapidly as is Santa Ana. It is probably necessary that we have a higher tax rate. So far as I am concerned, I would not object to an increased rate, if it were necessary."

Discussing the city managerial form of government, Head declared that departments of the city were functioning successfully. He pointed out that there were 253 cities in the state operating under charters and that only twelve of them had managers. He declared that a majority of the twelve were in "hot water" most of the time because of the city manager plan.

"Suppose we adopt the city manager form of government. We would have to pay such an employee from $4,000 to $6,000 a year, and even then probably would experience difficulty in securing a good man," Head declared.

Sees Expense Gain.
"His appointment would not cut out a single officer," he continued. "He would have to have a stenographer and an automobile. The expense of the office would mount up. Would we save anything? I think not. Departments of the city are working successfully. Nothing is wrong that I know of. We can't make good city administration on paper—it is made by men."

"We have been fortunate in Santa Ana in the character of men who composed our various city councils. They have made mistakes, it is true, but they have been errors in judgment. Intent always has been good. If we depart from the present law we will get into trouble."

"I would like to see an effort made to secure amendments to the present state law that will offer relief that is deemed necessary for this city. I believe we could get what we want, and it is not too late now to make the effort." "The city manager feature of the charter is worth more than all the rest of the charter, and I want to stand or fall on this feature," said H. J. Forgy, later in the evening, as members of the board reiterated their confidence in the city manager form.

Edgewood Park Lots

Do you know that the one big thought is Home

Do you know that most people want a better home

Do you know that location means everything for home

Do you know that thousands make the mistake of not seriously considering this fact until they find they

Have built their home in the wrong location, this is true.

Do you realize that many people let a few dollars' difference

In the cost bar them from the best location when it would

Make hundreds of dollars difference when they go to sell, even

Experienced builders manytimes don't seem to discover this

Until they are old enough to retire.

Do you know that the North Main Street district is the cream

Of the resident section of this town.

Do you know that Edgewood Road is the most beautiful street

Leading off Main street

Do you know that Edgewood Park lots are on Edgewood just off Main and the most wonderful home site in the city

Do you know that it is in a splendid walnut grove

Large lots, all improvements in and paid for.

Do you know that never again will you get such lots

At the prices they are being offered

Do you know you can secure one for $150 down

Do you know that there are only a few left and

That somebody will be paying somebody else a

Handsome profit for these large lots before you

Know it, and do you know people from such places

Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to Other Mothers

Windom, Minn.—"I was so run-down that I was just good for nothing. I was to become the mother of my ninth child, and I thought I did not have the strength to go through with it. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has surely done all I could ask it to do and I am telling all my friends about it. I have a nice big baby girl and am feeling fine. You may use this letter to help other sick mothers."—Mrs. C. A. MOEDE, Box 634, Windom, Minn.

My First Child
Glen Allen, Ala.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bearing-down feelings and pains. I was troubled in this way for nearly four years following the birth of my first child, and at times could hardly stand on my feet. A neighbor recommended the Vegetable Compound to me after I had taken doctor's medicines without much benefit. It has relieved my pains and gives me strength. I recommend it and give you permission to use my testimonial letter."—Mrs. IDA RYE, Glen Allen, Alabama.

GOOD MANNERS

At any public entertainment or gathering—theater, opera or lecture—it is very bad form to arrive late. If tardiness is unavoidable, however, one should remain at the rear of the auditorium until an intermission. Then one may take one's seat, with an apology to those it is necessary to disturb.

NEWS BRIEFS

While the South Dakotans were picnicking at Sycamore Grove park, Los Angeles, today, the North Dakotans were beginning to shape their plans to attend a big reunion at the same place next Saturday, according to an announcement received here today.

The Budd Furniture company store at 406 West Fourth street has been sold by Cora A. Budd to J. P. Doherty, a notice of sale on record today showed.

Miss Jeannette McFadden, city librarian, today announced that the public library branch in the Franklin school would open to the public Monday at 1 p. m., and would thereafter be open every Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 1 until 5 p. m.

Thomas H. McGuire, a retired justice of the supreme court of Northwest territories, now residing at Long Beach, is honorary president of the Canadian club of that city, he stated today, in announcing that to him had been delegated the task of spreading broadcast the news of a big Canadian picnic that the organization plans to hold at Bixby park, Long Beach, February 24. The club, McGuire said, will supply hot coffee, cream, sugar, cups, plates and other adjuncts, but visitors must bring their own edibles.

The ball game scheduled to be played tomorrow between teams representing the Knights of Columbus in this city and in Los Angeles has been postponed on account of wet grounds, it was announced today.

Members of the Woman's auxiliary of the Church of the Messiah were today notified of a special called meeting for Monday at 2:30 p. m., when urgent business matters will be disposed of. All were urged to be present at the parish hall for the occasion.

Building permits issued this month to date numbered 175, according to the records of W. S. Decker, building inspector, today. Valuation of construction work in Santa Ana this month as indicated by building permits was $310,123.

Delinquent city license tax payers today were fearful of increased penalties as the result of three business men of Santa Ana being fined $15 by City Recorder W. F. Heathman, on complaint of City Marshal Claude Rogers for operating in this city without property authority, it was reported. The fined were H. J. Shoupe, sewing machine salesman; Frank Thompson, insurance agent, and John L. Wheeler, tractor sales agent, according to the records.

Glenn D. Willaman, secretary of the California Real Estate association; Freeman H. Bloodgood, a member of the legislative committee of the state organization, and Everett A. White, a director, went to San Diego this afternoon, where they will attend a banquet to be given tonight by the board of that city. Bloodgood will discuss the California real estate act.

RABIES FOUND IN DOG SLAIN HERE, CLAIM

Disclosures that a dog killed on East Second street Thursday was found to have been infected with rabies, today served to spur members of the shotgun squad of the police force here to vigorous action in their campaign to exterminate stray dogs.

Examination of the head of the dead animal in Los Angeles revealed to Dr. G. J. Telfer, in charge of the state laboratory there, that the animal had a well-developed case of "hydrophobia," George Weibrecht, sanitary inspector here, stated.

Weibrecht, who said that the animal was a large steel-blue collie or shepherd, issued a warning that if any person was bitten by the animal he should at once consult a physician.

Owner Not Known

The owner of the canine was not known to the officers. The dog was first discovered in the 500 block on East Second street. Officers finally caught and shot the animal near the cannery of the California Packing corporation.

Frank Stewart and H. D. Jayne, motorcycle officers, assigned to duty by Chief of Police Claude Rogers. They operated in an automobile. It was their purpose to patrol all of the streets of the city. Rogers said that he instructed the officers to exercise judgment in shooting animals. In case a licensed dog were found on the street, Rogers said, the owner will be instructed to put him under leash. If the owners should fail to do this the officers would take summary action. Where it was possible to find the owner of an unlicensed dog, the same course would be taken, Rogers said.

No New Cases Found

According to Dr. W. Leland Mitchell, county health officer, no new cases of hydrophobia had been reported to him today from outside points. He said that his statement yesterday that a dog had been killed at Garden Grove was an error, due to misinformation given him. The dog under suspicion, however, is chained and his condition is under observation, the physician said.

Weibrecht said that Dr. Telfer, of the state health board in Los Angeles, had informed him that Santa Ana and Orange county were taking the only proper step to eradicate rabies.

Strict enforcement of the state quarantine, he said, would result in elimination of the disease.

Two dogs were killed here during the forenoon.

MRS. SAM JERNIGAN'S FATHER IS SUMMONED

Plans were today being completed for the funeral of John F. Pritchett, 72, who died yesterday at his home, 701 North Bristol street.

The death of Mr. Pritchett followed an illness last October and while he had regained his health to the point where he was able to be up and about, his recovery was never complete.

Coming to Santa Ana from Texas, he had made his home here for the past six years. He was a prominent Mason and past commander of the commandery at Hillsboro, Tex.

Surviving him are four daughters and one son: Mrs. Sam Jernigan, Miss Sybil Pritchett, Miss Flora Pritchett of this city, Mrs. C. D. Rankin of Hillsboro, Tex., and Clyde Pritchett.

Funeral services will be held at the Smith and Tutthill chapel here Monday at 10 a. m.

James noonday lunches.

YOUNGEST CULT COLONY GIRL NOW BRIDE

Miss Mary Smith, 33, youngest member of the famed Placencia vegetarian colony, today was Mrs. Asa Loyd Foust.

Late yesterday, the couple applied to Deputy County Clerk Grace Kittle for a license. Foust gave his age as 23.

Miss Smith, rosy cheeked and smiling, demurely paid Backs the fee for the license.

Then, accompanied by Miss Vera Smith, a sister of the bride, the couple descended into Justice J. B. Cox's courtroom, where the genial justice performed the ceremony.

Again the bride demonstrated her financial resourcefulness. Counting out $5, mostly in small silver, she paid the official, and the couple departed.

Mrs. Foust was one of the six surviving members of a strange colony of vegetarians near Placencia. Founded more than thirty years ago by W. L. Thales, the colony continued, through the lives and deaths of Thales and William Wiederhold, his successor. At the death of the two leaders, each willed his share in the $60,000 ranch to the surviving members of the colony. Court litigation fol-

SPEEDER HAS AIDES TO CARRY TRUNK AS HE ARRIVES AT JAIL

Followed by a retinue carrying a large trunk, Stanley Deer, Eagle Rock motorist, today arrived at the Orange county jail to begin his sentence of ten days, imposed last Wednesday when Justice J. B. Cox found him guilty of driving at 56 miles an hour.

Deer, a portly youth, good naturedly thrust his commitment papers through the bars of the jail to Jailer Orin Moncrief. He was admitted, followed by his aides with the tin trunk, and was booked for confinement.

He seemed disappointed when he was told that he could not take his trunk into the tank with him, but was apparently reconciled to his fate.

Deer, who is a postal employee in Los Angeles, was arrested on the El Toro boulevard New Year's day.

lowed. Mrs. Wiederhold and her son sold their share to Frank Hind, another member, and the affair was declared to be a trust, by Superior Judge J. B. West. The bride is one of the remaining heirs.

COUNTY NEARLY OVER TOP IN SCOUT DRIVE

With a total of $11,250 procured for the 1923 budget of $13,500 for Boy Scout work in the county, Roland Dye, scout executive, today said he anticipated reports at Monday noon disclosing that all of the quotas for districts now working have been raised.

Campaigns at Newport Beach, Huntington Beach, Seal Beach and Brea will be conducted later.

Definite reports in the hands of Dye showed that Orange had raised $1600 of its quota of $1750; Anaheim $1500 out of $2500 and Fullerton $1300 of $2250. Final reports are scheduled to be made Monday.

According to Dye, other communities will report Monday with quotas fully subscribed, as follows: Garden Grove, $250; Laguna Beach, $100; Tustin, $500; Costa Mesa, $75; Yorba Linda, $150; La Habra, $250.

Subscriptions for Santa Ana today stood at $6,500, Dye said.

Wearing Out One's Wife is an unwitting national pastime

Few men fully appreciate the physical burdens of housework and the wearing-down effect upon their wives.

Yet they expect their wives to maintain their cheerfulness, good looks and attractiveness year in and year out.

Few women take advantage of the many labor-saving and time-saving devices (and, indeed, BEAUTY-SAVING) that reduce drudgery to simple, easy, pleasant, loving tasks for the HOME.

Manufacturers of home conveniences and the merchants who sell them select the newspaper's advertising columns as the medium for telling the news of their devices, what they will do for you, how to use them to the best advantage, and oftentimes the easy terms which they allow you.

A Cordial Welcome to All

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

Nine short verses in Luke, recording Christ's healing of the ten lepers while on His way to Jerusalem for His crucifixion, deal with the very prevalent sin of ingratitude and bring to us a practical lesson with a searching inquiry.

Ingratitude has been characterized as a meaner sin than revenge because, while revenge is the repayment of evil with evil, ingratitude is the repayment of good with evil.

Every poet and every prose writer has exhausted epithet on those guilty of this sin. The indictment given by Shakespeare is probably the one most quoted:

"How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is To have a thankless child."
Young puts it above all other sins:
"He that is ungrateful has no guilt but one;
All other crimes may pass for virtues in him."

Christ, who laid bare every sin that warps human character and puts a blot on human life, has given us the most stinging rebuke ever administered to ingratitude.

His question, "Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine?" has echoed through nineteen centuries and is as much needed today as when it was spoken.

If the ten lepers had been afflicted with a disease easily cured, the case would not have been so strong. But leprosy was incurable. (It is even today one of the most hopeless of diseases and appeals to the sympathy of the Christian world. We have an American society, known as the Mission of the Lepers, which cares for many thousands of unfortunate, and our government has recently made an appropriation for Christ had healed them all only one returned to give expression to his thanks. Is gratitude manifested by all today?)

The Bible is a mirror in which we see ourselves just as we are. Attention has often been called to the fact that it is the only book that offers no flattery to sinful man. Because it contains a faithful inventory of man it has been attacked as no other book, and for a longer time. One cannot read the account of the nine ungrateful lepers without examining himself, and who can examine himself without being conscious of his own ingratitude?

Our Providential Blessings. Our Thanksgiving Day we are wont to assemble at church or in the home to give expression to gratitude for bountiful crops and other material benefits, for the enlightened government under which we live, and for the blessings of life. Have we ever attempted to set down all the things for which we should be thankful? Let us consider first what may be called providential blessings—those for which neither we nor our immediate ancestry are responsible.

Man comes into this world without his own volition; he has nothing to say as to the age in which he shall be born, as to the race of which he shall be a member, or as to the land in which he shall first see the light. Have our hearts been lifted up in gratitude to God for birth in the greatest of all ages and in the most blessed of all lands?

What is it worth to live now instead of a thousand or two thousand or five thousand years ago? Of what value is citizenship in this land as compared with citizenship in other lands?

And who shall estimate the benefits that come to us from being members of a race with centuries of civilization back of it? Not all of the billion and half who live upon the globe today are so fortunate.

Gratitude for Clean Blood. How, too, shall we estimate the value of a fortunate family environment? Next to heredity the greatest molding influence is the home life during childhood.

What is it worth to have clean blood that carries with it none of the diseases that follow in the wake of immorality?

Of what worth is it to have impressed upon us from the very beginning the lessons of purity, truthfulness and honesty, and to have implanted in our hearts ideals that make for character and noble living?

If you have education, it is because people long since dead established our school system, with universal education as the national ideal.

We are not only indebted to former generations, but we are indebted to those who were about us in our youth—who built school houses and trained teachers so that education came to our lives as the air enters our lungs.

Education is so largely dependent upon others that it is a gift rather than an accomplishment—at least, the earlier part of our education which we receive before we are old enough to decide such matters for ourselves. Are we grateful and do we show our gratitude by a determination to pay back the debt we owe?

Do We Repay? When we finish school, do we count the cost to others and appreciate the sacrifice endured by those who made our education possible?

Do we resolve to discharge the obligation by making the world better for those of our generation and for those who come after us?

What is the ratio between those who manifest gratitude in their lives and those who, like the ten lepers, enjoy but make no return?

Some even plot against the public and use against their fellow-men the very training that the public has through education, given them.

President Roosevelt complained to a Harvard Law School class that there was scarcely a great conspiracy against the public welfare that did not have Harvard brains behind it.

He need not have gone to Harvard to utter this terrific indictment against college graduates; he might have gone to Yale or Columbia, or Princeton, or to any other great university, or even to smaller colleges.

President Wilson spoke on the same line: "The great voice of America does not come from seats of learning. It comes in a murmur from the hills and woods, and the farms and factories and the mills, rolling on and gaining volume until it comes to us from the homes of common men. Do these murmurs echo in the corridors of our universities? I have not heard them."

Wendell Phillips uttered the same complaint when he said that the people "make history"—while the scholars only "write" it and that, part truly and part as colored by their prejudices.

Our Debt to Religion. And how is it in religion? Have we not benefited by a Christian civilization?

Who will measure the debt we owe to the Bible, to the Bible's God and the Bible's Christ?

What is salvation worth to the sinner and what are Christ's example and moral code worth to those who would be perfect even as the Heavenly Father is perfect?

What percentage of the church membership is really active? How many of our young men and young women, returning from college, offer themselves for church work and seek an opportunity to prove by service their gratitude for what Christ has brought into their lives?

What evils are being attacked in the name of the Master? How many Christians are so living that they can ask the question in which are embodied the first recorded words of the Savior, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?"

Space does not permit an enumeration of all the blessings which we enjoy, but even a short list ought to include the benefits that come to us because we live under a government in which the people rule.

Our liberties constitute a priceless gift, bought for us by the blood of others. It is because millions of the best and bravest who ever lived poured out their lives that we are free.

We are the heirs of the ages and debtors to all who have from time to time protected and developed popular government. What evidence do we give of deep appreciation?

Our Debt to Our Country. How much time do we give to the study of the machinery and methods of government and to the principles and policies which come before the people for approval or rejection?

How courageous are we in the use of the ballot and in the improvement of conditions under which the people of this generation live?

How much responsibility do we feel for the remedying of the evils that we may help to remedy and for the bringing of the good that we may help to bring?

We have the best country in the world, which means that we have the best people in the world. And yet, how few comparatively contribute, to any sacrifice to themselves, to the great reforms that mark the progress of civilization.

While most citizens vote, the burden of the fight for government reforms is borne by a small percentage of the electors.

Just as the energy which finds its abode in falling water needs a machine through which to act, so the political virtues inherent in the voter needs an organization through which to give expression to its strength, and an organization cannot be carried on without money.

What percentage of those who vote in any of the larger parties subscribe financially to their party's funds?

One in ten? Hardly.

How Many Helped?

We have just won the greatest moral victory ever won at the polls—how many have contributed financially to prohibition? Relatively but a small number.

The W. C. T. U. has been in existence more than half a century, during which time it has patiently and persistently worked for two great reforms—prohibition and woman suffrage. It has been the greatest educational influence back of these two Constitutional amendments, and yet of the many millions of women who reap the fruits of prohibition and suffrage not more than half a million—not one in ten—have become members of this organization or contribute regularly to its work.

The obligations above mentioned are only a few of the many that all willingly acknowledge when attention is called to the subject; each reader can make up a list for himself and place the emphasis where he desires.

The supreme value of this lesson is that it comes to us from the highest authority and should, therefore, arouse us to new resolves that we may avoid the condemnation visited upon the ungrateful lepers and bring to ourselves the joy that gladdened the heart of the one leper who glorified God and, falling upon his face, poured out his heart in thankfulness to the Master.

Happy Social Affairs Mark Semester's End At Junior High

So many happy social affairs have marked the end of the semester at Junior High school where departing and incoming students have been equally feted during the past week.

One of the most charmingly planned was that of yesterday evening after school when incoming and outgoing officers of Every Girl's club, executive committees and improvement committees together with a group of teachers active in work with the girls, responded to the invitation of Mrs. Iva M. Webber, vice-principal and beloved dean of girls.

There were about forty altogether to enjoy hospitality thus extended and the group included Miss Hazel Bemus, Miss Mary Henderson, Mrs. Ethel Sink, Miss Bertha Briney, Miss Annie Anderson and Miss Dorothy Mead of the faculty, together with H. G. Nelson, principal of the school.

In a little program of talks which featured the refreshment hour when ice cream and cake were served, Miss Marie Mitchell, retiring president of Every Girl's club, made an interesting talk. In it she expressed her appreciation of the co-operation and support given her during her presidency.

Miss Edith May Breckinridge, new president, followed with a talk on ideals and aims for her coming term of office. Miss Mitchell then took the floor again and presented clusters of gay red carnations to two members of the faculty, Miss Mead, who ends her association with the school this semester, to become the bride of Mr. George Parker, and Miss Bemus who leaves at once for San Francisco to do special work in connection with the schools of the Bay region.

Declaring the program closed, Mrs. Webber was decidedly surprised at Miss Mitchell's smiling contradiction, for the latter had one more cluster of flowers, pink carnations this time, which were bestowed with words of love and appreciation upon the leader and hostess, Mrs. Webber herself.

LITTLE SISTERS GREETED
At the end of the seventh period at the school on Thursday afternoon, occurred the pretty ceremony of greeting the "little sisters." These were the new girls, forty-five in number, who were completing their course at Washington school, and under the chaperonage of Miss Lillian Humphrey, were making their first appearance in the halls of Junior high.

Awaiting them in a formal circle, were the new high nine girls, each with her name printed on a white card and bearing a yellow card with the name of her assigned "little sister." These yellow cards together with a cluster of roses, were given each new girl and following a brief program, the newcomers were taken on a tour of the school to familiarize them with their new quarters.

The program included words of cordial greeting from Miss Edith May Breckinridge, president of Every Girl's club; a clever dialect reading by Miss Beth Nunn and the reading of names and general introduction of the girls by Mrs. Webber. Miss Elizabeth Cleary offered instrumental numbers as the girls marched from the room to inspect the building.

FAREWELL DINNER.
Perhaps the most ambitious festivity was that held on Thursday night when members of the graduating class who will enter the halls of Polytechnic High School with the beginning of the new semester, were honored guests at a dinner arranged in the airy corridors of the school.

Miss Dorothy Mead was mistress of ceremonies and with her committees appointed among the students, left nothing to be desired in the way of entertainment, refreshments and hospitality. The decorating committee under Miss Hazel Bemus and with Miss Josephine Sawdye as chairman, arranged a clever effect in golden yellow, making all the elaborate decorations themselves.

During the serving of the menu, members of the school orchestra rendered selections and at the close of the dinner, a program arranged by members of the low nine class kept everything lively indeed. The program opened with a twenty-minute play directed by Miss Hazel Thresher after which the "Humanophone" was introduced with Edwin Gearhart as director and Stanton Daley as mechanic. "Anybody See My Cat?" was the classic presented. A clever "Top-syturvy Song" and selections by

Local Folk Motor To "Our Village" For Reception

Laguna offered its fairest aspect yesterday in greeting to the scores of guests who gathered at a beautiful "Studio-by-the-Sea" in response to invitations issued by Mr. and Mrs. C. Clark Colman, honoring the Misses Constance and Perrone Arntzenius, charming young daughters of Holland who are sojourning in "Our Village."

The richly beautiful interior of the studio, where many of Mr. Colman's most impressive paintings were on display, offered a charming setting for the affair, and the honor guests struck a quaintly artistic note in their national costume and with their close-cropped boyish heads.

Receiving with Mr. and Colman and the Misses Arntzenius were Madam Ann Dare, Mrs. Isabelle Lord Frost, Mrs. Edward De Anna, Mrs. A. H. Burkholder, Mrs. Hal G. Rider, Mrs. Stephen Chalmers, Mrs. Frank Campion, Miss Anna Gayne Peake and Miss Anne Mason.

Scores of guests gathered to greet the honorees and to enjoy a music program presented by Mrs. Wiener. Tea was served throughout the afternoon.

Among local guests were Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, Miss Ada May Sharpless, Mrs. Ella Campau, Miss Nell Sumner, Miss Beulah May, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. Maude Chase, Mrs. W. L. Delmings, Mrs. C. E. Crose, Mrs. Bertrand West, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reed and Mrs. Eugene Robinson while Mrs. W. W. Croser, Mrs. Brock and Mrs. Shackelford of Newport Beach also motored over from the county federation executive board luncheon at Huntington Beach where others of the Santa Ana group were also in attendance.

The honor guests were to present a program in the evening at Laguna Community club house.

Philathea Class

Philathea of the First Baptist church were delightfully entertained yesterday at the home of Mrs. William Lockett on West Nineteenth street when over thirty members met for the happy evening, with Mrs. Lockett and Mrs. Albert Hill as associate hostesses.

A short business session conducted by Miss Ida Nay, new class president, presented committee appointments and plans for the year's work in home missions and for Armenian and European relief work.

The social hour was enjoyably spent with progressive table games, and later, bowls of carnations and sweet peas were used to deck the tables for the serving of dainty refreshments.

Fidelas Class

Members of the Fidelas class of the Congregational church together with their mothers, were charmingly entertained at the hospitable Edward M. Nealey home recently.

An informal program presented Miss Ruth Rowland, piano soloists, Miss M. Birden, Henry in readings and Miss Ray of Tustin in songs after which a variety of game soffered additional entertainment.

Refreshments were served late in the evening with Miss Lucy Royce, Miss Ruth Rowland and Miss Mary Harris assisting Mrs. Nealey in serving.

The kitchen orchestra, self-styled the "Tinpanni orchestra" completed an unusually entertaining program.

Miss Hazel Bemus and Miss Mary Henderson were presiding deities in the kitchen and were assisted by a capable staff when dinner was served. Included were the Misses Mary Jane Owens, Evelyn Yount, Doris Dysart, Doris McClain, Frances Teira, Mary Fine, Josephine Sawdye, Doris Kearns and Viola Fowler while these boys, Charles Ring, Ned Johnson and Oran Reeves gave invaluable aid.

Following the serving of the 150 guests including many teachers, the entertainers and the staff of pretty waitresses were seated for the enjoyment of the dinner menu which included meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, hot rolls, jelly, Manhattan salad, Neapolitan ice cream and cake.

Engineers' Club Is Entertained By Founder

There were mingling elements entering into the program of a social gathering of the "Engineers' club" of the high school when Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Alleman entertained Thursday evening at their home, 521 South Parton street.

Naturally there were elements of pleasure and hospitality, but also there was an under-current of regret that the founder of the club, Mr. Alleman, was to sever his connection with the school faculty to enter another phase of business life.

The club was founded two years ago by Mr. Alleman, then, as at present, head of the mechanical arts department of the school. It has been an active factor in school life and meetings have ever been fraught with interest.

In calling the boys together for the last time during his connection with the school, the host, with Mrs. Alleman's assistance and that of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell Bouchard of Tustin, offered an evening of rare enjoyment.

A variety of games and contents yielded entertainment and suitable refreshments were served at a late hour.

One of the outstanding features of the occasion was the presentation to the host of a handsome silver casserole engraved with the insignia of the club. Mr. Alleman responded to the gift with a friendly and touching little talk.

There are twenty-five members in the Engineers' club, and most of them were present. Included were:

Gale Harmon, president; Frank Chase, vice-president; Victor Morrison, secretary; Robert Lancaster, Guy Penn, Gerald Price, Raymond Lleser, Leland Dresser, Thomas Oglesby, Willard Besmer, Leigh Tournet, Edward Blake, Stewart Rittner, Earl Jesse, Wendel Finley, Lloyd Redmond, Everett McKinney, Fred Howell, Wm. Godwin, Norman Hicks, Victor Morrison and Virgil Dunkin.

Interested Audience Greets Style Show

Scores of mothers of high school girls together with the girls themselves were today remembering with pleasure the presentation of a style show yesterday afternoon at the high school auditorium.

Directed and arranged by Miss Isabel Anderson of the faculty, the affair was a brilliant success combining as it did, entertainment features of unusual value in addition to the display of pretty gowns by pretty girls.

The stage setting was one of the most beautiful ever attempted here, with a background of gold curtains, against which two clever little Chinese maids stood silhouetted during the style show proper.

The appearance of Joy Palmer Leitch, a pupil of the Denishawn School of Dancing, Los Angeles, was an event in the history of the school and Miss Leitch won her audience almost with her appearance on the stage, a veritable spritz of a coquette in her gauzy gold frock and waving gay green feather fan with artistic abandon.

Miss Leitch gave a second number, a graceful Grecian dance as lovely in its individual way as the first. Her personality was a large part of her dancing and seemed to flow across the footlights to the very hearts of the interested audience.

Ollimae Enlow Matthews is almost a personal possession of the girls of Santa Ana High, and her appearance was greeted by the enthusiasm it always invokes. She gave as a violin selection, a Russian air with variations, "The Nightingale" by Alabieff. Her technique, as always, was well-fine, high perfect and the charm of the number was apparent from the first soft tone to the unusual ending in the very birdlike upper notes with no suggestion of anything but silvery sweetness. As

Ebbel Travelers Meet At St. Ann's Inn For Luncheon

One of the small private dining-rooms at St. Ann's Inn was transformed into spring's own bower yesterday when members of the third Travel section of Ebbel gathered for luncheon as the guests of a group of eight hostesses.

Mrs. O. M. Robbins was head of the hostess committee which included Mesdames P. A. Robinson, A. M. Gardner, Charles Carothers, N. A. Beals, H. M. Sammis, Miss Edith Pattern and Miss Preble Drake.

Masses of feathery acacia and fragrant heliotropes gave royal colors to the decorative scheme as did the attractive nut cups, place cards and other table appointments.

Following the enjoyment of the luncheon menu, the section members motored to the Robbins home on Lacy street where a program on Hawaii was given. Mrs. Harry M. Smith gave a paper on "Physical Features of the Island" illustrated with maps and pictures. "Natives and Customs" were discussed by Mrs. Sylvester while Mrs. G. E. Bruns described "Industries."

The afternoon ended with a delightful social hour, rendered more enjoyable by the fact that this was the section's first meeting in two months.

Mrs. Overton of Grand Rapids, Michigan, a house-guest of Mrs. Robbins was the sole guest present while members in addition to those named as hostesses were Mesdames W. R. Sylvester, Harry M. Smith, G. E. Bruns, A. N. Zerman, Clyde Bach, Roy Shafer, E. C. Humphrey, O. S. Cantland, E. B. Sprague, Dr. Mary Wright and Miss Mary Thompson.

An encore number, Mrs. Matthews played "Perpetual Motion" by Bohm.

Among the lovely frocks shown, none attracted more comment and interest than a quaint creation of a far earlier day, made many years ago by a Santa Ana seamstress and worn yesterday with an air of great demureness by Mrs. Shields of Rankin's store. The costume was complete even to the black silk "mitts" covering the hands.

In a little talk preceding the program, Miss Anderson expressed the gratitude of the Girls' league to the Rankin Drygoods company, Peterson Shoe company and Madame Marie-Louise for gowns, shoes and hats in addition to invaluable aid in suggestions, and to the Spurgeon Furniture company and the Collins nursery for furniture and flowers.

Dinner and Theater Offer Entertainment To Departing Visitors

Honoring Miss Florence Walters who will leave soon for her home in Nebraska, the Misses Katherine and Thelma Scott were delightful young hostesses recently at their home, 719 Pine street.

Choosing a 6 o'clock dinner as their mode of entertainment the Misses Scott used a profusion of sweet peas and ferns in decoration, and the table where the delicious course dinner was served, was centered with an artistic arrangement of the same flowers.

Places were indicated by dainty cards for Miss Walters, the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Walters; Mrs. Robert T. Scott, Miss Merle Allender, Miss Semone Thomas, Miss Arma Thompson and the hostesses, Miss Katherine and Miss Thelma Scott.

Following the dinner, the group of six girls motored to Anaheim where they enjoyed a theater party.

Mrs. Walters and Miss Florence Walters plan to take their departure early in February for Lincoln, Nebraska, after having spent the winter months here where they have formed many warm friendships.

Sedgwick Social Club

With Mrs. Viola Fipps presiding as newly elected head of the Sedgwick Social club, an enjoyable meeting was held yesterday following a pot-luck dinner at noon, served in the dining-room of G. A. R. hall.

At 2 o'clock, a short business meeting was held, followed by a program commemorative of McKinley day. This opened with instrumental numbers played by Mrs. Freda Moesser Barger who also sang a group of McKinley's favorite hymns including "Lead Kindly Light."

The Rev. W. S. McDougall of Tustin spoke a few words of eulogy of the martyred president after which the Rev. F. T. Porter gave the address of the afternoon followed by Mrs. Petrie reading "The Old Catechism." The Rev. Mr. Porter's talk was forceful and eloquent and proved thoroughly interesting to all assembled.

CLUB WOMEN HEAR INTIMATE GOSSIP OF NOTABLE PEOPLE

FULLERTON, Jan. 27.—When it was announced recently that Mrs. Jerome Reynolds of Los Angeles was to address the Placentia Round Table Club, nobody got out an edition about it.

But now some of those who didn't attend are wishing they did. At least the reports of those who were present are said to have created within the hearts of many here a keen desire to hear Mrs. Reynolds.

Mrs. Reynolds is better known as Alma Whittaker. She works for the Los Angeles Times. Her subject for the afternoon was "In discreet Gossip About Notable People."

Prinstitute, Mrs. Reynolds told her customers that Pola Negri, the Polish countess, doesn't even have a sweet disposition to "Sharlie," Charlie Chaplin, it is reported.

All of these statements below are "reported."

According to reports, said Mrs. Whittaker:

Clara Phillips is just as well educated and refined as Madalvne

Obenchain and a much more lovely woman from the female point of view.

Frane Williams, dramatic instructor in the extension division of the state university, charms his women auditors with rather shocking discussions of psycho-analysis.

Rupert Hughes wrote "the best guide to Los Angeles" when Douglas Fairbanks was constantly jumping over chairs the last time she saw him.

Charles Ray recently appeared in a green linen waistcoat with cr-vat and hose to match.

Kid McCoy is a thick lipped, dabby jawed individual with bad teeth and a prize fighter's hands. Ralph Ouchain is rather a dear, according to the women, and a silly nut, according to the men.

Ellnor Glyn is a spry old girl of 61, according to her nephew.

Cristabel Pankhurst is a quiet, modest, thoroughly feminine and practical individual.

Norma Talmadge is well educated and has a keen sense of humor.

Mary Roberts Rinehart is a dashing good dresser with a bubbling disposition.

Tea, of course.

Tea was served.

"QUINCY ADAMS SAWYER" AT PRINCESS TUESDAY

A cast which numbers some of the most popular actors and actresses in motion pictures today is seen in "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the photoplay which is scheduled for presentation Tuesday and Wednesday at the Princess theater. It is just one of the elements which go to make this motion picture one of the truly worthwhile screen efforts of the season. Persons who have seen this rural classic in its screen form maintain it is a delightful, and at the same time, exciting and interesting picture.

In the strong cast is seen Blanche Sweet, Lon Chaney, Barbara La Marr, John Bowers, Elmo Lincoln, Hank Mann, Louise Fazenda, June Elvidge, Zazu Pitts and others.

The photoplay is a screen version of Charles Felton Pidgin's novel of the same name, of which more than a million copies were sold. Its story is considered the most representative of all dealing with rural life in New England. Clarence Badger directed this photoplay, for which Bernard McConville wrote the scenario.

The University of Missouri plans a five-reel picture dealing with college life; D. W. Griffith will select the cast from photographs of students.

"TO HAVE AND TO HOLD" IS PICTURE OF ACTION

Action, love, suspense, fights, blowing up a ship, a court orgy, a bride market, beauty, bloodshed, sex interest, comedy, marvelous sets, a battle between a man-o-war and a pirate ship, great swordsmanship, gowns that it took sixty dressmakers a month to prepare, startling photography, more romance, more suspense, more action.

And there you have George Fitzmaurice's Paramount production of "To Have and to Hold," featuring Betty Compson and Bert Lytell, which comes to the West End for 5 days, starting tomorrow.

Betty Compson, never lovelier, in pearl and brocade one moment, in a hastily improvised bathing dress the next, in gowns low cut and gorgeous and in gowns more modest and dainty, has the best role of her screen career.

She is the girl who, rather than marry Lord Carnal escapes to Virginia to wed the first man who asks for her hand. Bert Lytell, romantic hero, swordsman unexcelled, brave and daring, is the man who asks and ultimately wins her love.

Always there is something doing in this story. The characters are real human beings, loving and fighting and loving some more. There's not a bowing puppet in the picture. It's the rapid-fire drama told swiftly against a background as colorful as a show at the New York Hippodrome.

"To Have and to Hold" was the most expensive picture ever made in the Lasky studio at Hollywood. Ships were bought and rebuilt and blown up, while hundreds of pirates and Indians took part in the mass fighting. A whole shipload of beautiful girls were landed in the wife-market scenes. In a massive set is shown a colorful orgy at the court of King James I of England.

Every scene in the picture is a Fitzmaurice triumph. Famous for the beauty of his productions, he has here a type of story made to order for lavish settings and beautiful compositions. The cast is tremendous. Betty Compson and Bert Lytell are wonderful in this romance of romances. Theodore Kosloff, who is seen as the venomous king's favorite, has the finest part of his colorful career.

SIMPSON HAS GOOD ROLE IN "HUMAN HEARTS"

Russell Simpson is a supreme artist in character work. He is known for a hundred fine portrayals.

His type and his ability are remarkably well suited to the role of biblical father in "Human Hearts," the feature starring House Peters at the Temple theater.

"Human Hearts" is an elaborate picturization of the famous melodrama which ruled the American stage for a decade. King Baggot directed the filming. Simpson's work in the picture is the impersonation of stern, straight-laced father of an Ozark mountain family. It is the hardest kind of role, a part allowing of no variation in attitude, only latitude in the degree of feeling.

Opposite Simpson, Gertrude Claire, beloved screen mother, is cast in a character of the sort she plays so splendidly.

PERSIAN HAREM SCENES IN "OMAR, THE TENTMAKER"

The intimate life of the Persian harem is depicted in a vivid manner in "Omar the Tentmaker," starring Guy Bates Post, which will be shown for the last time at Rodolph Valentino who appears in "All Night," picture showing at the Yost theater tonight.

A thread of the interesting story leads into the harem of the Shah of Persia, where dozens of beautiful girls are held prisoners until such time as they lose their beauty and fall from grace. Of old the Persian shahs were the most despotic and powerful of all rulers, and they were able to commandeer any maiden they desired for their harems.

In "Omar the Tentmaker," Shireen, the beloved of Omar Khayyam, is "drafted" in such a manner, but the girl proves obstinate and is thrown into the dungeon, where she spends many years before she is released. Then she is sold as a slave, and goes through torturous adventures before she is reunited with her lover.

Virginia Brown Faire is cast as Shireen, and she has given the role a powerful interpretation.

"EBB TIDE" COMING TO TEMPLE THURSDAY

"Ebb Tide," George Melford's latest production, which will be the feature at the temple for four days beginning next Thursday, is a gripping story of unfortunate men, who reach thrilling climaxes in their lives in the adventures of South Seas. Strange is the trio of men on the beach at Papeete, Tahiti, one an Oxford scholar who has "made a success of failure," the second, a mean, slimy, totally bad ex-London clerk, and the third, a mariner, whose ship piled on the rocks while he was drunk in his berth. They are on the ebb tide of life when the story opens—derelicts—and strange are the adventures they experience before the story ends. That the picture has been done in the big way it deserves is assured by an all-star cast, which comprises James Kirkwood, Lila Lee, Noah Beery, George Fawcett, Robert Hatton and Jacqueline Logan. The picture is based on Robert L. Stevenson and Lloyd Osbourne's story.

USE 500 EXTRAS IN FILM AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

More than 500 extra people—miners, dance hall girls, gamblers, fur traders and gold seekers—were used in the big scenes of "The Idol of the North," a Paramount picture starring Dorothy Dalton, which comes to the Princess theater tonight.

In order to put this army through their paces R. William Neill, the director, had to use four assistants. The big scenes in the Aurora Borealis saloon and dance hall are full of "punch" and the virile life of the hardy citizens of the Canadian Northwest which is depicted makes "The Idol of the North" one of the most dramatic pictures Miss Dalton has appeared in.

VALENTINO IN "ALL NIGHT" AT YOST TOMORROW

The animated screen today presents no more romantic a player than Rodolph Valentino, who comes to the Yost theater Sunday only in a revival of the universal picture, "All Night."

Valentino was born in Taranto, Italy, where his family has maintained a palatial estate for generations.

At the age of ten Valentino entered Perugia Military academy, where he continued through his high school years and was later appointed to the naval academy at Venice.

Because of a slight optical trouble he was refused a commission and came to America to pursue a dramatic career. After several successful seasons on the vaudeville stage, he returned to Italy to drive his Fiat in the famous races between Rome and Naples. He again visited America and appeared on the vaudeville stage with Joan Sawyer and Bonnie Glass in a dancing act.

At the outbreak of the war, Valentino took up aviation preparatory to joining his organization on the Italian front.

In spite of the efforts of the Italian consul in New York to have an exception made in his case, Valentino was again rejected from action because of defective vision.

Valentino's screen career consists of appearing for Griffith, Ince, Clara Kimball Young, Vitagraph and Universal.

BILL TO PLACE GOVERNORS ON CARS CALLED DANGEROUS

Proposed Plan Is Seen as Imposing Big Handicap On Motoring

ROAD JAMS VISIONED

Success In Driving Held To Depend on Reserve Power and Speed

Control of speeding by introduction of a governor on all cars is impracticable and unsafe, in the opinion of Joseph Stout, of the local Ford agency and chairman of the motor dealers' craft of the Orange County Automobile Trades association.

Stout's statement is the result of the introduction in the assembly by Assemblyman West, of Sacramento, of a bill providing that all motor trucks and automobiles must be equipped with a governor preventing their operation at a speed in excess of that permitted under the state law.

"Control of speeding by governors, as proposed by West, is absolutely impracticable," said Stout. "It would make the highways unsafe and, in effect, would clog traffic on the boulevards."

Sees Merchandise Trust

"Again, adoption of such a law would create, in a sense, a merchandise monopoly—the manufacture and sale of governors."

"Governors as developed up to this time are not always perfect, and their general use might add confusion to confusion."

"Automobiles cannot be successful and safe unless there is reserve power and speed. These two features could not obtain with a governor set at a given speed to meet the requirements of speed regulations."

"For instance, if a speed limit were set at thirty miles an hour, it would be almost impossible for a motorist driving up to that limit."

Auto Accessory Sales Pay Plucky Widow's Way from Chicago

Travelling expenses from Chicago to Santa Ana and profits in excess of the cost of a new Ford made by the selling of automobile accessories on the trip out—this is the record of Mrs. H. E. Simpson, it was learned today.

Possessing keen business sagacity, and thrown on her own resources recently by the death of her husband, Mrs. Simpson decided to "go West" to make her fortune. With her 10-year-old daughter she departed from Chicago three months ago in a new Ford. She was seventy days en route and stopped at many points to sell accessories.

She declares her intention was directed to Santa Ana by copies of the Orange county booklet issued by County Purchasing Agent F. W. Slabaugh. When she left home she was headed for California—what particular point she did not know.

At Omaha and Denver she saw the Orange county pamphlet. The pictures and the information impressed her and she came to Santa Ana.

She purchased, immediately after her arrival, a house at 519 East Fifth street.

DAY BY DAY OVERALLS GETTING SCARCER AS AUTO LAUNDRIES WIN

Overalls in private garages in Santa Ana are getting scarce, according to George Platt, of the Platt Auto service. He pointed out that services rendered to auto owners by enterprises such as he is conducting is making it unnecessary for owners to clean up and grease their own cars—hence the disappearance of overalls in private garages.

"Greasing and washing of cars at home is passing," said Platt. "Efficiency of 'auto laundries' and greasing stations, and moderate charges, have effected changes in conditions that existed before the institution of such establishments."

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Fairview Farms Water Company will be held Feb. 6, 1923, at one o'clock in the church, Costa Mesa.

J. W. WHERRY, President.

NEW AUTOMATIC MOTOR OFFICER SIGNALS PLAN CONSIDERED CLAIMS TRAPS NECESSARY

Traffic Control System Used In L. A. Urged on S. A. Council

Bill Forbidding Cops from Hiding On Highways Is Rapped by S. A. Man

Control by automatic signals of traffic on at least ten of the busiest intersections of the city will be an improvement of the future, if the city council follows the suggestion of F. W. Clay, Los Angeles, that a certain street traffic signal system now in use in Los Angeles, be installed here. Clay was in conference with members of the council yesterday and today, and presented the merits of the system.

It is estimated that it would cost $20,000 to install ten stations in the city. Under the system, the stop and go signals would be operated from a central timing station situated at the city hall.

Knowing that the council is now considering a bond election for providing a new fire alarm system, Clay came here to interest the local officials in the installation of the automatic system at the same time that the new fire alarm plant is installed.

Up to Voters.

The latter equipment is dependent on the will of the voters of the city, who probably will be called upon to express themselves on a bond issue of $50,000 to provide the fire equipment and a call system for the police department. Should decision be made to incorporate the traffic signal system, the issue would have to be increased by at least $20,000.

Signals were suggested on Main street at Second, Third, Fifth and Sixth streets, and on Fourth street at Bush, Main and Sycamore streets and Broadway and at two other intersections to be selected later.

Traffic is now controlled by the new system at thirty-one of the busiest intersections in Los Angeles, according to Clay.

The regulating device makes it possible to send traffic flowing in one direction at definite intervals, and may be adjusted to permit traffic to go at will in all directions at those periods of the day when travel is light.

Operation Cost Told.

Clay declared that the cost of operating such a system included approximately $1.25 a day.

HERE IS NEW COUPE-SEDAN MODEL OF WILLYS-KNIGHT

The new Willys-Knight coupe-sedan model, shown here, is now on display in the show rooms of the Overland Santa Ana company, corner Fifth and Birch streets. The machine, according to George Ash of the local company combines the "chumminess" of the coupe with the convenience of the sedan.

SUGGESTS NEW TRUCK WEIGHT CHECK PLAN

Has County Motorcycle Officer O. K. Carr devised a scheme whereby the county traffic regulations limiting the weight of truck loads can be adequately and strictly enforced and at the same time render such enforcement self-supporting?

County officials and others interested in the protection of the county's costly system of paved roads were today seriously considering the Carr plan with the possibility that Orange county may adopt it and at the same time institute a system which may spread all over California because of what Carr says are cumbersome rules for the enforcement of county regulations of a similar nature.

Hits Present Plan

In explaining his plan, Carr pointed out that the present system was not satisfactory because of the time element it involved, with the resultant delay in fast freight traffic, and the laxness with which regulations are enforced because of the amount of attention it requires from enforcing officers.

Under his plan standard scales would be installed on all incoming trunk highways in Orange county, which would be at San Juan Capistrano, Huntington Beach, Seal Beach, Buena Park, La Habra, Brea, and Santa Ana canyon.

A special officer would be stationed at each of these places to check the weight of each incoming truck, a process which would require the minimum of time under the scale system.

Would Collect Fee

A nominal fee would be collected for the service and a certificate of weight supplied the driver of the truck. Traffic officers over the county could demand to see this check when questions as to weight of loads arose. The fees would pay the salary of the men assigned to attend to the scales, Carr believes.

After the weight had been taken by the county special officer, no driver could plead ignorance as an excuse for an overload, the motorcycle policeman emphasized further. Heavy fines could then be justly assessed for violations.

HEADLIGHT LAW ENFORCEMENT IS PLANNED

In view of recent statements by District Attorney A. P. Nelson, that enforcement of the present headlight regulations is impracticable, interest was manifested here today in declarations by Steve Neal, chief inspector of the motor vehicle division, that "the headlight law is a good law and we certainly will not tolerate violations."

The inspector said his department planned to continue its drive against faulty headlights in all sections of the state "until the highways have been made safe for motorists."

Plans Tour

He announced his intention of leaving Sacramento in a few days with a corps of picked men for a tour through the San Joaquin valley and as far south as Los Angeles.

The return trip will be by way of the coast route, and the state officers will make special observations of headlight conditions.

"We receive complaints almost daily from various parts of the state asking for better enforcement of the law and we intend to see that this is done," the inspector said.

To Hit Violators

"Many motorists use higher candle power globes than are allowed for their particular type of lens and these violators will be severely dealt with, because they know when they overstep the state specifications they are violating the law."

"The only safe way is to use globes specified by the department or else obtain new lens for the higher test globes. There are several appliances, some of which can be used in conjunction with other lenses which allow the full 32-candle power globes to be used without tilt."

WILLS SAINTE CLAIRE AGENCY NOW ENTIRELY OWNED BY H. H. KELLY

H. H. Kelly today was the sole owner of the county distributing agency for the Wills Sainte Claire line of automobiles, following purchase by him of the interests of Good Adams. The agency has been operated under the name of H. H. Kelly Motor company. Kelly will conduct the business under his own name.

The agency is now at 116 East Fifth street, but Kelly stated that plans were under way that probably would result in the erection of a new garage building for his exclusive use. Negotiations had not reached the point where Kelly was at liberty to reveal the name of the builder or the location, he said.

QUERIES AS TO STREET HOLES AND GLARING LIGHTS ARE ANSWERED

City Lacks Equipment for Repairing Pavements, Says Dahl

PROCEDURE IS TOLD

Illumination Law Governing Autos Unenforceable, Avers Nelson

Shortage of necessary equipment—and that focussed attention on the continual "depression" of city finances—today was assigned by Edward Dahl, street superintendent, as responsible for conditions in Santa Ana streets complained of by P. P. Jayne in a communication to the automobile editor of 'The Register' in last Saturday's issue.

The present headlight law is unenforceable—that is the answer of A. P. Nelson, district attorney, to the question propounded by Jayne in which he asked why it was that the number of glaring lights seen on automobiles at night were not decreasing, in the face of oft-repeated warnings given by officials that motorists driving with glare lights would be arrested and fined.

Jayne complaining about trenches made by public utilities and the practice of leaving them unfilled and unrepaired, asserted that a motorist either had to violate the law by driving on the right side of a street or drop into the trenches and take chances on breaking springs.

Conditions Worse Elsewhere

At the same time that Dahl asserted that this condition was due to a lack of proper equipment for making repairs in pavement opened for installation of new services, he declared that the situation here was not as bad as it was in Pasadena, Long Beach and other Southern California cities that he could mention.

"The city replaces paving torn up for the installation of public utility services," said Dahl. "Filling of a trench is incumbent upon the public utility or contractor making an installation. Thirty days usually is given for settling of the earth in the trench. At the expiration of that time, the street department replaces the pavement with what equipment is available for such work. The equipment is small, but repairs are made just as rapidly as is possible. Frequently it is necessary to make the second repair, due to the settling of earth after the first repair is completed."

Says "Estimate" Incorrect

"I deny that Jayne is correct in his statement that half of the paved streets of Santa Ana are full of chucks or trench holes. If he, or others who may complain, will

BUICK SALES MARK TO BE SET, BELIEF

Registrations in California, and throughout the country indicate that the 1923 Buick is hitting on all cylinders for the sale record for this fiscal year, according to Robert Reid, of the Reid Motor company, local distributor for the Buick.

Reid says that since the announcement in August of 1922 Buick models, all registration records for this product in California have been broken. Sales increased each month after the announcement, he says, pointing to registration of 4486 Buicks in the state between August 1 and December 31, 1922.

"More than 75,000 cars were manufactured and shipped during the first five months of production of the 1923 models," said the distributor.

"According to factory officials, the Buick was the center of attraction at the national automobile shows," declared Reid. "The distinctive character of both the six-cylinder and four-cylinder Buick models served to make the valve-in-head automobiles the subject of favorable discussion."

AUTO SERVICE AGENT HERE ADDS TO FORCE

H. F. Gorman, recently of Los Angeles and formerly of Butte, Mont., has become identified with George F. Nash's service station at 317 East Fourth street, according to announcement made today by Nash.

"Since I bought out 'Howdy Tire Gowdy' a few months ago, my business has grown so rapidly that I have found it necessary to add an outside salesman," Nash said.

Gorman will have charge of the sales end of the business.

CAR THEFT TOLL IN U. S. $100,000,000

According to A. S. Ralph, manager of the Auto Club of Orange County, a survey made by the United States Chamber of Commerce disclosed that automobiles to the value of $100,000,000 were stolen in 1922.

"More cars were stolen last year in the United States than there are automobiles in Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey," Ralph declared. "The total number of automobiles in the United States is five times as great as that in the rest of the world put together. Their value is estimated at almost $9,000,000,000. It is not surprising then that the wise car owner seeks the protection of some safe kind of insurance to safeguard himself against loss by fire, theft or accident."

PACT TO END DIVORCE ROW BOOMERANG IN WIFE'S SUIT

The financial compact, which was the basis of a settlement between Edwin A. Honey, prominent Orange pioneer, and his wife, Margaret, whereby she dropped divorce proceedings against him though Superior Judge Z. B. West had granted an interlocutory decree, may prove a boomerang to the plaintiff.

This was brought out clearly yesterday when Judge West, on a demurrer filed by Honey, threw out of court a separate maintenance suit that the wife had brought.

The history of the case is one of the most involved and unusual in Orange county judicial history. Several years ago, a short time after the Honeys were married, Mrs. Honey instituted a suit for divorce from her husband, on the grounds of extreme cruelty. The case was tried by Judge West, and an interlocutory decree was granted.

Honey appealed, and the case was taken to higher court. While it was pending there, stipulation of an agreement was filed.

According to the terms of the contract, which was held by Judge West to be the crux of the situation.

month for each intersection and the salary of one man to care for the mechanical upkeep and inspection necessary.

A single unit of the device is installed on each of the four corners of an intersection. It comprises electrically operated semaphores, lights and bell, set on iron posts at property line, projecting at curb and facing travel flow in each direction.

A single unit provides both audible and visual signalling means. The movement of the semaphore arms, changing of lighting and ringing of bells each individually compel attention.

ANSWERS QUERIES ON STREET HOLES

observe, he will find that trenches are found only in those streets where former managements of the city did not have the foresight to force pipe connections at the time pavements were laid.

"Pavements being laid at this time will not have to be torn up to permit of such installations, for in every instance provision is made by compelling public utilities to put down pipes in advance of paving. The program for paving South Bristol street is a concrete example. At the south end of the street, most of the abutting property is acreage, yet sewer, gas and water connections will be established every fifty feet, in anticipation of the time when the street will be built up with residences.

"As regards Jayne's complaint that trash and debris are permitted to remain in the streets for periods of five weeks, I will say it is the duty of the contractor creating such conditions to remove them. Sometimes it is possible to clear at once, other times it is not."

Nelson said that every effort possible had been made to eliminate glare lights on automobiles. Enforcement of the present law governing headlights, he declared, was impossible.

"There is no way we can enforce the headlight regulations," said Nelson, "and we will have to put up with present conditions until a change can be effected. The old law was easier of enforcement than the present, and we should go back to that if new regulations cannot be developed on lines that make it possible for an officer on the road to determine when a light is irregular.

Officers at a Loss
"An officer knows when a lamp is glaring, but he has no means of determining whether the candle power is in excess of the limits prescribed in the motor vehicle act. There are no stations for testing the strength of the rays. Present testing equipment is competent only to tell whether the beams are above or below a certain height level. The devices do not test the candlepower.

"In my opinion, the easy solution to the whole problem is the adoption of legislation making the operation of an automobile with a glare light a violation of the law. The issue should not be tangled up with attempt to define a glare light. Any officer, any man can tell when a lamp is glaring, but no one can tell whether any particular light is producing 50 or 100 candlepower."

GOVERNORS ON CARS CALLED DANGEROUS

it to pass a machine traveling at twenty-five miles an hour.

"Tells Difficulty
"Of course the machine traveling at thirty could, in time, pass the slower vehicle, if there were no travel in the opposite direction.

"Accidents would increase by the situation that would develop by a machine running at a full speed limit trying to pass one going at a lower rate of speed. We have not yet developed to the point where all operators have attained perfection in the operation of cars or where all have perfect judgment as to the speed of an approaching machine.

"Accidents would happen when drivers with bad judgment would attempt to pull around a slow car and fall to complete the passing in time to clear the road for the automobile moving in the opposite direction.

"I do not think West will get anywhere with his bill—and I am sure that he should not, for it would be too great a handicap to motoring."

UNITED PRESBYTERIANS BID RETIRING PASTOR GODSPEED

The Rev. J. G. Kennedy, terminating today his nine year's pastorate of the United Presbyterian church here, went to Los Angeles, where tomorrow he will preach his first sermon as pastor of Occidental United Presbyterian church.

As Dr. Kennedy departed he was happy in the knowledge that his long ministry here had endeared him to his congregation and to the public. Evidence of the good will of his flock was given last night at a farewell reception held at the church, at which representatives of various departments of the church organization gave expression to their appreciation of the retiring pastor's services.

Formal opening of the new church in Los Angeles will take place a week from tomorrow. Dr. and Mrs. Kennedy will continue to reside here until they can procure a suitable residence in the Angel city.

Check Presented
Evidence of the congregation's appreciation of their pastor also was given in a substantial form in the way of presentation to the Rev. Mr. Kennedy, by Col. S. H. Finley, on behalf of the congregation, of a check for $1350, contributions made by members and friends of the popular pastor.

Finley spoke for the church organization in complimenting the Rev. Mr. Kennedy for the fine work he had done in his nine years' connection with the church and in expressing the sincere wish of members that in his new field of endeavor he would be happy and successful and that his associations with the new congregation would be as pleasant as have been those obtaining here.

In response, the minister recapitulated some of the activities of the church, and said that when he came to Santa Ana from Pittsburgh he did not expect to remain long. He pointed out, in substantiation of this statement, that he bought a round-trip ticket.

Judgment Reversed
In effect, he said that at that time he did not have much faith in Santa Ana. The fact that he had remained nine years was conclusive proof, he said, that his first judgment of Santa Ana was an error. He told his flock that his stay here had been pleasant, and that while the church had not made phenomenal growth it had steadily increased in membership. He called attention to the fact that more members had come into the church in his administration than were here when he assumed the pastorate.

According to his report, the membership was now 327. It disclosed that a total of $115,628 had been contributed to salary and congregational expense, missions and charity during his administration.

As clerk of the session, John A. Henderson Jr. presided over the program of the evening. It included musical numbers and brief addresses as follows:

Here is Program
Quartette, Miss Ruth Frothingham, Miss Mary Henderson, C. G. Waters, M. B. Beatty; solo, Miss Frothingham; whistling solo, Ray Millman; the Rev. G. N. Geer, pastor of the Reformed Presbyterian church, representing the Santa Ana Ministerial union; Miss Jean Smith, representing the Christian Endeavor; Dr. J. H. Simpson, an adherent but not a member of the organization; Mrs. W. M. Smart, women of the church, and Col. S. H. Finley, representing the membership and congregation.

Three hundred men and women, including a number of the pastors of the city and friends of the retiring pastor, were present. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

GRADERS AT WORK
TALBERT, Jan. 27.—Graders are now employed on the dirt roads one and a half miles east of Talbert and north from the Talbert boulevard which are to be graded. Eight miles of the road in this section and the Newhope section adjoining are to be graded as the result of the voting of bonds by the Garden Grove high school district.

BOY SLAYERS LEAD OFFICER TO VICTIM

(By United Press Leased Wire)
RIVERSIDE, Jan. 27.—The nude body of Leslie L. Nichols, murdered Los Angeles insurance man, has been found in a lonely spot in the desert, half buried by sand.

Frank Campbell, 18, and Charles Davis, 18, who told officials that they had killed Nichols after he had given them a lift in his machine, led officers to the spot, about a mile from the road.

The body was stripped of its clothing, and badly mutilated by stones and bullet wounds.

Beside the body was found a discarded sailor suit, which had been worn by Davis, and which he had cast away when he stripped Nichols' mutilated body of its clothes and appropriated them for himself.

Robbery was the motive of the murder. Nichols' watch was found in a San Bernardino pawn shop. The boys had taken Nichols' car and headed for Arizona. They were arrested while trying to cross in the Colorado river ferry on suspicion of transporting a stolen car into another state. When questioned they confessed to the murder, police said.

$1695
F. O. B. Cleveland

An entirely new type of five passenger closed car, priced for those who desire genuine closed car durability and comfort at almost open car cost. Body by Fisher, richly appointed. Exceptionally dignified and spacious.

A PHENOMENAL new motor that was built to a mountain's specifications in order to assure rugged strength, limitless power and a commanding margin of safety, is the outstanding feature of the 1923 Chandler car.

This motor earned its name, for it had to prove its capacity when pitted against the strains of Pikes Peak, the world's loftiest automobile highway, whose summit is 14,000 feet above the sea.

New Low Prices Complete the Triumph!

The Pikes Peak tests proved that perfect combustion under the widest range of atmospheric conditions had finally been achieved;

—that the steepest grades could be ascended in a swift, smooth, silent advance;

—that instant throttle response had been obtained even with low grade fuels;

—that the so called "ping" or spark knock of pre-ignition had been utterly eliminated regardless of carbon;

—that vibration, pounding, bucking, skipping on any grade had been overcome.

This new Chandler was built, without regard to cost, to get the best.

Four open and four closed body styles have been carried to a new perfection.

An increase in price could readily have been justified, for the motor is a much more expensive design.

But Chandler production skill has matched Chandler engineering genius, and despite the advance in quality, there are new low prices on all models.

The result is a value without precedent, a value that can be proved by performance.

HERE IS '23 PLATE FOR CARS OF STATE

Here is a picture of one of the 1923 California automobile license plates. The cut was furnished by the Santa Ana branch of the Auto Club of Southern California. The numerals of the new licenses are white with a black background. The number will be divided by the name of the state and the year, '23. Plates will be issued about February 1, it is expected. Club branches will handle applications for certificates and plates for members of the club, Elmer Heidt, manager of the local bureau, said.

NAME SPECIAL DAYS NATL. ORANGE SHOW

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 27.—Dates for special days at the National Orange show, to be held here from February 16 to 26, were announced today by R. H. Mack, manager of the exposition. The Southern California Editorial association holds the position of honor on the program and will have its day February 17, the day following the opening of the exposition by Governor Friend William Richardson. It is expected that Governor Richardson will remain in San Bernardino over night to participate in the activities of the newspaper men of the Southland. More than 250 editors of California newspapers are expected to attend.

Wednesday, February 21, has been set as Kiwanis Day, February 22 for the Lions club and February 24 has been set for the Rotary clubs. All of the organizations are making arrangements to attend the exposition in large delegations. Arrangements are being made to hold a Motion Picture day, probably Saturday, February 17, when noted stars of the silver sheet will attend.

The date set for the holding of the Citrus Institute is February 20. Several important addresses have been planned, and among them are talks by I. G. McBeth, J. A. Prizer, J. D. Culbertson and W. M. Merz.

Final organization of the Santa Ana city Y. M. C. A. association was completed today.

Adoption of a constitution and bylaws by the governing board of directors of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. association at the luncheon meeting held at James's cafe today, at which report was made of business performed by the activities committee at its meeting yesterday, firmly established the formal organization of the city Y association.

Plans and specifications of the proposed $200,000 Y. M. C. A. building to be erected this year were reported to be nearly completed. R. C. Smedley, building secretary, said that advertising for bids would begin February 1. Construction under those circumstances, he said, would begin about March 1.

Play Volley Ball Game Initial use was made of the playgrounds at Sycamore and Church streets yesterday afternoon, when a number of business men indulged in a strenuous game of volleyball.

Fifteen clubs with an enrollment of 150 boys, each club governed by an adult leader, have been organized in Santa Ana, according to the report of T. P. McKee, community secretary of the city association. In addition, his report said the Junior College Y. M. C. A. has a membership of 30 students; the Junior Hi-Y club has 27 members; the Senior Hi-Y has 30 members, and Hi-Y clubs have been formed at Tustin and Garden Grove high schools.

Tells Reorganization George Chessum, county secretary, reviewed the reorganization of the county association by which Santa Ana gained its association as an individual unit. The county organization in future will function in districts outside of incorporated cities in the county, he said.

The activities committee has adopted a budget of $3,000 to cover expenses of the city association work during 1923.

The committee was divided into two sections, the finance and the boys' work committees. Members of the finance committee named were J. A. Cranston, the Rev. P. F. Schrock and J. W. Means. On the boys' work committee were included D. K. Hammond, Garfield Allen, H. G. Nelson, Carson Smith and Glenn Tidball.

SQUADRON MEN HIT HARD AT RUM TRADE

Asserting that the constitution of the United States is "merely a means and not an end," and pointing out that the eighteenth amendment is capable of being rendered inoperative unless the people of the country are constantly on the alert, James H. Woertendyke, member of the Flying Squadron Foundation, addressed an attentive audience at the First Christian church here today.

"The elimination of the liquor traffic is wholly dependent upon the will of the people," Woertendyke said, touching upon the constitutional phases of prohibition. "If congress ever saw fit to repeal the eighteenth amendment it could express that wish by a two-thirds vote," Woertendyke continued. "This action would bring the question up to the states, three-fourths of which, acting favorably, could make the will of congress effective in removing the amendment from the fundamental laws."

Says Eventually Remote An eventually of that kind, while remote, will always confront the people until absolute prohibition becomes so vital a part of American life as to be virtually ineradicable. It will be seen, therefore, that the constitution is merely a means and not an end."

The amendment, the speaker declared, required a law for its enforcement. Hence congress passed the Volstead act and most of the states, including California, enacted similar legislation. As to the possibility of the repeal of the act, Woertendyke said this could not be done as long as sentiment remains favorable to prohibition.

"But the wet forces are more active now than ever before," said Woertendyke. "The thing for the dry forces to do is to keep up their organization and not relax their opposition until there is complete capitulation upon the part of the enemy."

Drive Closes Tomorrow Woertendyke is scheduled to deliver another address tonight. The campaign will close with talks by the Rev. Norma C. Brown, and Oliver W. Stewart tomorrow afternoon and night.

Must prohibition be banished in the cause of national revenue? was the question that Frank S. Ragan discussed last night. Outlining his case against the liquor interests, Ragan brought out a number of startling statements to defend his argument that the very men who were agitating the abolition of prohibition in the interests of increased federal revenue, were the principal figures in the tax-dodging class.

If tax dodgers were eliminated, there would be no need for considering liquor as a necessary source of money, he declared.

Ragan used cartoons to illustrate his points, drawing as he talked.

FORM BUSINESS TO INSTALL CAR GLASS OF ANY KIND, SIZE

A. D. Snyder and Stanley Tumber, the latter an old-time Santa Ana resident, today had established themselves in business at 112 East Second street, under the firm name of Snyder and Tumber.

They will handle the Hartford windshield. They also have equipment to manufacture and install glass of any design or size needed about an automobile. They can manufacture windshields, visors, side wings, and curtain windows, beside make all kinds of windshield repairs.

Snyder was with the Hartford company for four years. Tumber was a resident of this city in his boyhood days and has returned to make his home. He has been with Don Lee, Cadillac distributor for California, during the past five years.

CHEVROLET JUMPS IN STATE REGISTRATION

According to Delbert D. Andrews, manager of the Fashley Motor company, the Chevrolet is the most discussed automobile on the market. He pointed out that in the last year it jumped from seventh to second place in registration. "The Chevrolet has been on the market about seven years but not until the fall of 1921 was it regarded at all as a serious contender for leadership in the low-priced field," Andrews said. "At that time a line of new models was brought out embodying important engineering improvements, high-grade bodies on all closed models and prices ranging from $663 for the touring car to $1065 for the 5-passenger sedan."

CADILLAC PRESIDENT SEES BIG AUTO YEAR

"We have three main factors by which we judge the future of the motor car industry," H. H. Rice, president and general manager of the Cadillac Motor Car company, recently declared. "One is what the industry itself has accomplished in the past. Another is general business conditions, and the third is a summary of reports and orders from our distributing organizations throughout the country. "There are today a total of 10,448,632 motor vehicles in the United States. This represents an increase of more than 1000 per cent in the past ten years. In Michigan, the home of our factory, car registrations have climbed to more than a half million."

"In 1904 there were 96,000 motor cars registered in the whole United States. Today government statements show that the entire population of the country could be moved by gasoline propelled vehicles at one and the same time. "Judging by the history of the industry itself, one would indeed be a pessimist who could not look forward to further advances in 1923."

BUILDS $12,000 HOME LA HABRA, Jan. 27.—John V. Roberts will build a $12,000 Swiss chalet in the McPherson tract north of the La Habra grammar school for R. W. Kuntz, who has interests in the oil fields at Santa Fe Springs.

The Sturdy Six of Long Life

Why the Jewett Is a Good Investment

Some folks think only of looks when they buy a car. Thousands have bought this Jewett on looks alone. But there are things to know about the Jewett which will make you prefer it to all others. Ever notice how comfortably the Jewett rides? You are surprised at such easy action in this size car. It comes from extra long springs and the extra weight of rugged construction.

If you are wise you can't be fooled on rugged construction. You can feel it—or the lack of it—by the way a car rides. The trembling, bouncy car is flimsy. The steady, comfortable car is substantial. Do we need to tell you which car is a good investment? You can feel the Jewett's long life in the way it rides. Will its power endure—remain smooth and quiet? A very important question. A short-lived motor makes any car a poor investment. How can you tell whether a motor will keep its power and smoothness? You don't need to be an engineer. With your ear and just one simple fact you can tell the answer.

Speed up the motor. Listen! Is it quiet? A noisy motor is poorly designed for long wear. And the one fact you need to make sure of is a high-pressure oiling system.

Jewett's high-pressure oiling system sends three gallons of oil per minute through all main and connecting rod bearings at 20 to 40 pounds pressure. It constantly bathes the entire mechanism in oil. Friction is reduced to nil. No chance for such a motor to wear out for years. Yes, you can prove the Jewett is a good investment.

A young man cannot honestly make a success in any business unless he loves his work, any more than a married man can be happy in his home unless he loves his wife.—Edward Bok.

COAST HIGHWAY MENACED

In spite of the fact that when the state voted additional highway bonds it was specifically stated by the State Highway commission then in control that the coast highway from Oxnard to San Juan Capistrano would be built, the highway may never be completed under that bond issue.

The coast highway, along with many other projects outlined under that bond issue and voted for by the people with the expectation that those projects would be carried to realization, are in jeopardy. The new State Highway commission has virtually taken a stand against them.

The Redlands Facts, discussing the situation, has the following:

The automobile clubs of California are demanding that their policy as to the building of state highways be adopted. Having been a large factor in the election of Governor Richardson, contributing much publicity and individual members of the directors of the clubs having given heavily to the Richardson campaign fund, it is but natural that they should be listened to in the formation of policies. Their first demand of importance, with the new commissioners in control, is that the remaining bond money, voted by the people on a definite plan of apportionment to various parts of the state, be deflected to the trunk lines, or main arteries, while the country districts are left "up in the air."

This policy was put before the highway commission some two years ago, but the then commissioners replied that the forty millions of bond money were voted by the people of all the state on a definite promise that certain sums of money would go into certain allocated roads. They considered that the honor of the state government was behind the program to observe the allocations of the money.

But the old highway commission with its ideas of honor and of keeping a promise were turned out of office, and a new board turned into office, and the new board is not bound by any such considerations as defined the activities of the old. The new president of the board, Mr. Toy, hotel manager of San Francisco, announces that the new policy will be to spend all the money available on a few trunk lines, so the counties which have depended upon the promise of certain definite sums going in their direction are going to be disappointed. Riverside county is one of those as the $300,000 for the Mecca to Blythe road is still unspent—on that road; and so is San Bernardino county, which had an appropriation of a quarter of a million or so for the road between Barstow and Needles, and westward from Barstow to Mohave.

The bond issue as submitted by the legislature and by the people voted, read: "The moneys in said 'third state highway fund' shall be used by the state department of engineering for the acquisition of rights of way for and the acquisition, construction and improvement of uncompleted portions of the system of state highways provided for by the act of the legislature approved May 22, 1910, known as the 'state highways act,' and the act of the legislature approved May 15, 1915, and known as the 'state highways act of 1915,' and certain extensions therein described in said last-named act, and also for the acquisition of the rights of way for, and acquisition, construction and improvement of the following additional highways as state highways." Then follow the projects to be improved, including the two mentioned in San Bernardino county, and also the Deep Creek Cut-off, and like-wise the Riverside county highway.

However, it is un doubted that the highway commission can find some legal loophole to get through and leave these roads and any others they desire without improvement, on the ground that there is not money enough to do them all, and can divert the money remaining to the "trunk lines" they wish to improve.

Previous to the submission of the bond act a meeting was held in San Francisco, at which time the specific amounts for each project were definitely agreed upon. Of course, such an agreement is without any legal effect, but upon it the campaign was made for the bonds and upon such an understanding the money was voted.

It behooves the people of this county to get into touch with the new commission at the earliest possible moment. The commission at this time is making a survey with a view to determining what program it shall undertake. Indications are that the program will not include the coast highway.

In this county the contract is let for the section of coast boulevard between Seal Beach and Huntington Beach. Preliminary surveys have been made for the remainder of the coast highway. Only a small part of the work in this county contemplated in the bond issue has been done.

A NEW FEDERAL HOSPITAL

A model federal hospital with a capacity of 250 beds has just been completed at Dayton, Ohio. Disabled World War veterans to the number of 150 already have been moved into their new quarters.

This hospital was erected as part of a comprehensive governmental plan for caring adequately for the war disabled and those men who later may develop infirmities due to military service. There has been so much complaint of laxity and delay on the part of the government in making proper provision for these men that it is good to hear of one more big project accomplished.

Order is gradually coming out of unavoidable confusion in these matters, as in other post-war adjustments, and it should not be long now before every service man in need of special care will be in a way to have the best the country can afford.

ONLY LAW-BREAKERS NEED FEAR

There are numerous ideas concerning traffic rules and traffic offenses that we cannot understand. Among them is one that has just found expression in a bill introduced into the state legislature. If that bill should happen to pass it would become unlawful for motorcycle officers to use traps for catching speeders.

Why shouldn't traps be used?

Is there any reason that can be advanced that does not have back of it the desire to make the breaking of the speed law easier and the catching of speeders harder?

The driver who keeps his car under the speed limit has nothing to fear from the trap or from motorcycle officers or district attorney or Judge Cox. If he exceeds the speed limit he is entitled to be caught in any legitimate way that officers can catch him.

Certainly the speed trap is legitimate—just as legitimate as using stop watches on horses and sprinters. The likelihood of error in taking the speed of a law-breaker in an automobile is no greater when the rate is taken by speedometer on a motorcycle than it is when taken with stop watches on the ground.

The same bill that would prevent the use of traps, in which a passing automobile's time is taken by stop watches, would also prohibit a motorcycle officer from operating unless he is in uniform.

The whole purpose of the bill, one may judge, is to make it hard to catch a speeder. It is as much as to say to the officers, "You've got to get me when I've got a chance to know that you are after me."

Those who object to being caught with a speed trap, no doubt object to being caught at all in any way known to officers. To them, to those who object to being fined for speeding and who object to being sent to jail for speeding or any other infraction of the traffic laws, just one thing need be said: If you don't break the law you won't be caught and you won't have any fine to pay and you won't be sent to jail.

Speaking of a child labor tax, Jackie Coogan has to pay the government $260,720 as income tax on his latest picture bonus.

Most Useful Citizen

Long Beach Press.

Public-spirited organizations in cities of California and everywhere have instituted the custom of making annual awards to the citizen who has rendered "the most distinguished service" to the city during the year. It is held, by proponents of this plan, that it encourages men to strive with utmost vigor to serve the community, and that it fosters the spirit of emulation in community service.

In some form, appreciation should be shown men and women of public spirit who unselfishly and usefully strive for the growth and good of the community. Too often faithful and noble public service is unappreciated, or showing of appreciation is withheld until the public-spirited benefactor of the community passes into eternity. Post-mortem praise, where there has been ante mortem neglect to praise, is a mockery. The useful public-serving citizen should be given gracious, generous recognition and laudation while he or she lives.

Peace Urged More Than Ever

Pasadena Star-News.

The horizon and the zenith darken, at times, with war clouds. There come seasons when it seems that the world is drifting hopelessly into militarism. But better omens come, sooner or later. "The still, small voice" of peace comes at last to take the place of the raucous roar of impending warfare.

When one contemplates the status of the world today, one is discouraged somewhat by the lurking evidences of militarism and the tendency toward appealing to the sword on slight provocation. But a broad survey of the situation impresses one quite hopefully. There has been more definite, systematic, influential effort, during the last twenty-five years, to establish and promote universal peace than in any other period in the history of the world. This is decidedly encouraging and significant. The cause of peace has enlisted more eminent men and women than ever before. More is being written, spoken and done to conserve peace than ever before. And these words and works are having effect, even though the war madness is strong upon some nations and peoples. More and more the conviction is growing upon the intelligent masses of this and other countries that warfare is too horribly destructive to be tolerated upon earth. Responsible, able leaders in both hemispheres are standing out strongly against militarism against the preservation of just peace through non-militaristic methods.

The cause of peace may be retarded, it may have setbacks; but ultimately it will triumph as sure as that "God's in His heaven"—and peace will cover the earth as waters cover the face of the great deep.

Would Spend as Voted

Riverside Press.

Riverside county grand jury has taken timely action in protesting against the suggestion that the $12,000,000 or more available from the last state bond issue be set apart for the completion of certain "trunk lines."

The $40,000,000 voted was for certain specific projects named in the bond issue and among them was $300,000 for the Mecca-Blythe road. The people knew at the time that some of the sums named were insufficient to complete the projects but they figured that the money would be spent on them as it would go and that a future bond issue or some other plan of financing would provide for the completion.

That plan has been adhered to in the work so far done under the bond issue and should be continued. That was the mandate given by the people; and to change the plan now is a breach of good faith, if not clearly illegal.

Uphold All Laws

Long Beach Press.

This is a crucial period, in which much disrespect for law is prevalent throughout the land. Persons high in authority and prominent in good works, take cognizance of this and are alarmed. They fear for the safety of the Nation. They foresee the dangers lying ahead.

It is a time to encourage and foster and urge respect for law. It is a time to teach children to respect the law and to inculcate law-abiding ideals. It is a time for all who believe in law and order and maintenance of the dignity and power of the law to array themselves on the side of the forces and influences and agencies which have to do with administering and enforcing statutory regulations.

This nation is making a name for itself. It is either setting before the world that it is law-respecting or else that it is powerless or unwilling to enforce law. The test is vital to this country and people. To paraphrase Abraham Lincoln's famous phrase about slavery, this Nation cannot exist half law-abiding and half lawless.

Editorial Shorts

The new Community Property bill which has been offered in the State Legislature differs in one material regard from that once passed and referendum by the people. The principal change in the draft of the measure is that greater freedom is left with either spouse in dealing her or his share of the kind neither husband nor wife could deed property to charities or parties outside the family without the consent of the surviving partner. This feature was supposed to afford ample protection to the children. In its new form the bill will be devoid of this feature and husband or wife would have a free hand in bequeathing his half of the community property. —Redlands Facts.

Getting Monotonous

A Refreshing View

San Bernardino Telegram.

Governor Richardson's announcement that he does not propose to intervene between the convicted and the courts in capital cases is less important than his reaffirmation of his oath of office which accompanies the statement. The Governor emphasizes that he is sworn to uphold and enforce the laws, that he cannot nullify the law against murder through executive clemency without breaking his oath. He points out that, "if the people desire to change the law regarding capital punishment, they can do so either through the initiative or by legislation."

If the Governor of California holds faithfully to that logical interpretation of his obligations throughout his incumbency, he will have fashioned something entirely new in executives. His attitude is refreshing yet it is elementary and simple. The Governor's business is to enforce the laws as he finds them when he is entrusted with the symbol of executive authority. It is not his province to suspend the law because he fails to agree with it. His only lawful course is to enforce an existing law, and to labor for its repeal if he feels that should be done.

Most of American troubles arise through official deviation from the plain course Governor Richardson has marked out for himself in this instance. Official willingness to set aside the law, to suspend its operations in a given instance if expediency suggests it, is largely responsible for the similar action of individuals or groups of individuals, and the general public indifference to the situation. The executive who picks and chooses among the statutes those he means to enforce and those he means to ignore gives influential warrant to the private citizen who, with justice, claims an equal privilege.

Sporadic cases of mob violence have dotted history since the dawn of time and it is probably impossible to eliminate them wholly. To suppose every instance of the character can be prevented is to suppose also that the passions and emotions of mankind can be successfully controlled or completely atrophied. Only the Millenium can institute exact justice and unanimous eagerness for it. But it is possible by precept and example in high places to stem the present tide of lawlessness, to create a public opinion that will neither condone the infraction of law or pardon the law-breaker.

Reiteration and repetition is the key of success in all publicity in advertising as in moral propaganda. Ultimately a leader must arise who will halt the downward march of American opinion and set it again on its way towards the peak of yonder eminence where respect for law and obedience to it are to be found. He must have the genius that is able to incessantly reiterate this home truth without becoming a bore. He must have the courage to hew to the line with complete indifference as to the dooryard in which the chips may fall.

It is impossible to exaggerate the danger of the existing situation. It is impossible for a citizen of discernment, with knowledge of conditions and the need for remedy, to join the complacent host that comforts itself with the belief that "America is sound at heart." The smug individual of high respectability is equally responsible with the crook for the prevailing indifference to the duties of citizenship.

THE SLEEP

O happy sleep, O happy, happy sleep!
Fallen the leaves, but where they used to cling
The young buds hold the miracle of spring.
And dumb is death, but cannot wholly keep
The throbbing secret of the prison deep;
And hope, though folded under life's closed wing,
Of resurrection joy is whispering;
O autumn glades, what cause is there to weep?

Lo, nature in her golden dream has heard
And feels the rapture of the hidden word.
The dying smile to hear—oh, could it break
Now from her parted lips! O heart of mine
Wert thou but purer, with a sense more fine,
To this unspoken wonder all awake!

STOP that TAX LEAK

Know Your Rights and Save Money

By Swell D. Moore

ARTICLE VI.

HOW EXCHANGES OF PROPERTY ARE TREATED

It is to be assumed that most taxpayers are familiar with their rights as to exemptions and deductions, and can compute their taxes in a simple return. "Primer book" instructions have been published over and over again by the government and by numerous newspapers; but few of these have gone into the more technical, and, to many taxpayers, the more important provisions of the tax laws. Take the matter of exchanging property, for instance:

The law provides a very definite method of treating exchanges of property held for investment, for other property of a like or kind, without taxable income resulting therefrom. This was intended to afford relief and promote business transactions.

Perhaps it has; but it has also furnished another means for thousands of taxpayers to escape, through a perfectly legal gap, the payment of any income tax whatever on such transactions. Gross abuses have arisen under this provision, and the government is now urging congress to do away with it entirely.

Congress thought it was providing relief to those who might make legitimate exchanges of property, but it has been cleverly turned to account by many to "legally evade" taxes. For example: A taxpayer purchases a bond for $2000, and exchanges it for another bond of the value of $2000, together with $200 in cash, the cash representing the increase in the value of the bond while owned by the taxpayer. Handled in this way there is no taxable income realized in the transaction.

The business of exchanging securities has grown enormously, many bond and investment houses advertising their ability to exchange securities, so as to avoid taxation on the gain, and taxpayers are taking advantage of the situation to make exchanges of securities that have gone up in price and get a cash bonus besides.

It is a two-edged sword so far as cutting taxes are concerned. They avoid taxes on the increase in value, in the manner described above, and if the securities have decreased in value they may be sold and the loss deducted. The Treasury Department says this is "destructive of the revenues," and urges congress to amend the law so as to limit such exchanges to the reorganization, consolidation or merger of one or more corporations.

You cannot sell securities and immediately buy like securities and call it an "exchange of property" without gain or loss. To constitute an exchange, the government regulations say, there must be reciprocal transfer of property for property as distinguished from a transfer of property for money.

In a true exchange there must be a simultaneous passing of title from one party to the other, in order for such transactions to come under this provision of the law. (All Western Syndicate.)

ON CITY MANAGEMENT

Editor Register: I believe that I read, in a recent issue of your paper, that the new city charter would recommend a manager to run our civic affairs. I wish to state in advance that I, for one, heartily approve of such a plan.

To take the city administration out of politics, and turn it over to a real business man to run as he would run his business concern, will save taxpayers' money and secure fore efficiency.

It's only about ten or eleven years since this form of handling city affairs began, but during this time nearly 300 cities in the United States are being operated under this system. The movement is growing too, and many cities are striving to put in the city manager form of government. Cleveland, Ohio, the largest city to adopt this scheme, had not become effective until 1924.

The plan surely must be a success, for we have never heard of a city reverting to its former plan of government after having adopted the manager idea by its citizens.

The city manager plan can be applied in a number of ways, but the most general system is the council manager form, hired by a council board, elected by the people. The city manager often comes from another town. He is appointed to serve indefinitely, but the people can remove him by a referendum vote at any time.

Apples By Panama

Many large shipments of fresh fruit are being dispatched from north Pacific coast ports to Europe through the Panama canal, practically all vessels in this service equipped with refrigerating installations being loaded to their capacity.

What is reported as the largest single shipment of apples from any northern Pacific coast port was carried by the steamship Narenta of the Royal Mail Steam Packet company, which transited the canal on December 19 with 125,000 boxes of apples laden at Portland, Ore., for discharge at British ports.

The Narenta carried a cargo of 4854 tons, in which were 3732 tons of fresh fruits and 640 tons of canned fruits. The steamship has 25 insulated cargo chambers with a total refrigerated capacity of 436,000 cubic feet.—Panama Canal Record.

Adventures of the Twins

Miss Pig's Valentine

By Olive Roberts Barton

This was Buster Brown Bear's valentine to Nick Patty Pig.

Nancy and Nick took it to her, because Miss Pig couldn't come to the hickory tree postoffice herself, living in a small house with no outside door except the one into the barnyard.

And Miss Patty was far too stout to squeeze through the rails of the fence.

"Just wait and I'll read it to you," she said to the Twins. "Or better still, you sit on the top rail of the fence and read it to me. I see you have magical glasses and Buster's writing is hard to read."

So Nancy began:

"Oh, dearest Miss Pat, So round and so fat, I would that you were mine. From Maine to New York, What is finer than pork? Pray be my valentine."

"Oh, darling Miss Pig, You're growing so big, You make me heave a sigh. You're so tempting and sweet, (Quite lovely to eat) That you bring a tear to my eye."

"Oh, sweetest Miss Swine, Just say you'll be mine. I am anxious to know my fate. If you'll just say yes, To the suit I press, Meet me tonight by the gate."

"Oh, lovely Miss Pork, A knife and a fork Are the only adornment you need, If you'll only be mine, Then together we'll dine, And we'll have most an excellent feed."

"Your tail in a curl, Sets my head all a-whirl, The ring in your nose I admire, Oh, lovely Miss Pig, I will dance me a jig, If you'll be my heart's desire."

"That's all," said Nancy. "Hee, hee," giggled Miss Pig. "Isn't it lovely?" "If I were you," advised Nick, "I'd be careful. It looks to me as if Buster Bear wasn't asking you to his dinner but to be his dinner."
